Fenway Park, July 31.—Waite Hoyt, the newest of the Red Sox pitchers, who joined the team yesterday, was sent in to pitch the final game against the Tigers. He got away to a fine start, turning back the first six Tigers who faced him.

He was given something to work on, as the Sox knocked off a run in the opening frame. A world single by Babe Ruth did the trick.

SOX STAR TRADE IS HELD UP

Chicago, July 31.—The New York Yankees will not be allowed to use Pitcher Carl Mays, obtained from the Red Sox, for an indefinite period. President Ban Johnson of the American League, immediately after learning of the deal, announced that Mays had been indefinitely suspended.

Johnson declared that Mays' desertion of the Red Sox on July 17 and his refusal to play again with that club constituted an offense that will not be tolerated in the American League.

He expressed amazement that any club owner should even attempt to negotiate for the services of a player guilty of such conduct.

The Yankees gave President Harry H. Frazee of the Red Sox $25,000 and Pitchers Allen Russell and Bob McGraw in exchange for the famous underhand hurler.

Chicago, Cleveland, New York and Detroit all made bids for Mays' services. Charley Comiskey of the White Sox offered $40,000 for the Boston star. He instructed Manager Gleason to increase this amount to the sum Frazee refused to close the deal at this figure.

Cleveland and Detroit also offered large cash considerations for Mays. The Red Sox hurler, according to wise baseball men, is not worth anywhere near $40,000, but right now he is in a position to swing the pennant to any of the leaders.

Frazee claimed he let Mays go to New York because Manager Ed Barrow wanted pitchers in exchange. They, too, the Red Sox chief believes the pennant fight is between Chicago, Cleveland and Detroit, and he says he did not wish to strengthen any of these teams at this stage of the game.

When Mays quit the Red Sox the Boston players asserted they would strike if he was permitted to go to a club which had a chance to win the pennant. Most of the Champions believe the Yankees are out of the fight and so would not protest the trade with New York.

BARRY GETS CUP FOR WORK ON Y. D. WELCOME

Former Lieutenant-Governor Edward P. Barry was presented with a solid silver loving cup in commemoration of his work as chairman of the entertainment committee for the Yankee Division. The presentation took place at a complimentary dinner at the Pemberton Inn, at which Walter F. Gallagher presented the cup, which bore the names of many of those who were members of the entertainment committee. Mr. Barry paid tribute to the work of Major Philip S. Sears, Miss Dorothy Forbes and to Miss Mary Reardon.

WORCESTER CARMEN AGREE TO ARBITRATE

Worcester, July 31.—Worcester and Springfield trolley men and officials of the Worcester Consolidated and Springfield railway companies agreed to arbitration of their differences in wage scale and working hours at a conference today. Henley W. Warren, counsel for the companies, and James Vahey, counsel for the employes, will meet tomorrow to pick a third man and name the date and place for arbitration.

8,500 JOIN NAVY YARD PROTEST

Eighty-five hundred employes of the Charlestown Navy Yard joined in a parade and a mass meeting on Boston Common today to protest against the congressional policy of retrenchment, under which many workers have been discharged.

Among the placards prominently displayed in the line and expressing the feelings of the men were these:

"Work for Workers; 'First in War, First in Peace, and First to Get the Hook.'"

"During the War We had to Fight or Work; Now We have to Fight to Work."

Bitter feeling against what the men term a cowardly congressional policy was shown. Speakers on the Common made it clear that "politicians had better get busy" or the

An additional fine of $1,000,000 must also be paid by the firm to the government.

Immediately upon sentence being imposed the two defendants were arrested by the United States deputy marshals. Both men took their ARTICLE 3.

England dares to say that she remains in Ireland because Ireland cannot financially stand alone. This, in spite of the fact that last year England made at least $225,000,000 from her control of Ireland. She collected from Ireland and Irish goods, during the preceding year, a revenue of more than 34,000,000 pounds. She spent on what she is pleased to call the "government" of Ireland about 13,000,000 pounds, leaving a profit to herself of 21,000,000 pounds, an equivalent of about $105,000,000 profit gathered to herself through taxation of Ireland.

Ireland did with the rest of the world the previous year a business of $25,000,000, according to Sir Horace Plunkett, though other spokesmen for England say this estimate is entirely too low. Of the foreign business done by Ireland, more than 98 per cent. was done with England. Why? Because England has so completely cut Ireland off from the rest of the world that she is unable to send goods abroad except through England, or to buy abroad except through England, thus being compelled, against all economic law, to sell in the cheapest market and buy in the dearest market.

USE BAYONETS IN NEW RIOT AT CHICAGO

Chicago, July 31.—Despite the presence of 6,000 troops armed with machine guns, rifles and bayonets in the riot zone, race rioting broke out again today on the South Side when a mob of white men attacked negroes who sought to return to their work in the stockyards.

Soldiers of the State Militia allowed the colored workers to pass through the gates of the stockyards and the white men immediately attacked, driving the blacks scurrying through the mazes of "Packing town."

As a result of the renewed rioting several negroes were severely beaten. Reports that four blacks had been killed were not verified.

Outside the yards several white men attacked a lone negro, but he was rescued by soldiers. The crowd then set upon the soldiers and a desperate fight followed. The soldiers charged the mob with bayonets and dispersed it.

WOULD KEEP ALL SUGAR IN U. S. FOR TWO YEARS

Washington, July 31.—Exportation of sugar from the United States for a period of two years would be prohibited by a bill introduced in the House this afternoon by Representative Elliot of Indiana.

Existing shortage of the sugar supply is given as the reason for the proposed prohibition.

key, in charge of a motor transport company stationed here, ordered his men to return the fire of the negroes. Two negroes fell dead into the Chicago River and disappeared. Many others in which the snipers of the negroes were concealed, and the troops each time they passed.

The troops, after the first fusillade in search of the snipers, and a few minutes later the entire district was in control of the troops.

A wireless station was established on the first floor of the armory, and communication with the outside world was established.

Many negroes were wounded in the fighting, and it is believed that a number were killed. The exact number, however, could not be learned.

ASKS FOR 2,500 MORE POLICEMEN.

A request for 2,500 additional men for the police force was made at the afternoon conference of the mayor, a negro and a white man, at which the race problem was discussed, he will do.

Chief of Police Garrity said that the force the city now has, even with the additional 2,500 men he requested, would be inadequate to cope with the situation. He said that 5,000 extra policemen are needed.

On behalf of the Chicago Federation of United States municipal employees, Joseph Tetzel, president, and Thomas Carlin, secretary, sent a telegram to Governor Lowden asking that the death penalty will be demanded for all those found guilty of murder during the race riots, whether they be white or black.

Delegations of negroes have called on the Mayor and the State authorities for protection and for a restoration of normal conditions. Both requests are said to have been a factor in influencing the Mayor to ask the aid of troops.

FITZGERALD BILL WOULD CUT COST OF FLOUR

Washington, July 31.—Sale by the government of wheat at market price to relieve the cost of flour and prosecution by the Department of Justice for speculation and gambling in flour products as necessary to reduce the cost of living were requested by Representative Fitzgerald of Massachusetts in a resolution introduced in the House this afternoon.

Kneeland's Away! One May Golf on Sunday

As soon as Mayor Martin D. Kneeland, secretary of the Lord's Day League, skips on the vacation one may play golf on Sunday.

Whether one may play baseball is a matter of another adequate complaint is made to Chief Plunkett of the state police.

That seems to be the latest "dope" from the state House as to the liability of the Sunday sportsman. Chief Plunkett says the law against Sunday baseball and Sunday golf are similar but drawn from entirely different acts.

One may golf without the attendant crowds, it seems, and baseball cannot. But one may play baseball usually with an attendant crowd and nobody pulling a baseball complaint to mean enforcement.

Until then Mr. Kneeland returns, you raise your choice.

sentences severally. O'Brien nodding his head in assent upon receiving the judge's decision. The two men have their sentences at once.

The government was denied a motion made by United States District Attorney Bourquin that the convicted men be sent to the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga. District Attorney Bourquin argued that it was only fair that the defendants be sent to Atlanta to satisfy the demands of the public sentiment.

Attorney Charles F. Choate, counsel for the defendants, made a motion for a stay of sentence, but this was denied.

Judge Anderson said in imposing sentence: "I am thinking if I am doing even-handed justice in not sending them to Georgia."

The men were convicted under section No. 37, penal code, which relates to conspiracy to defraud the government.

DETROIT LAWYER MAY DEFEND KAISER

Detroit, Mich., July 31.—Charles F. George, a Detroit lawyer, has been retained as one of the attorneys for former Kaiser if he is brought to trial before an international tribunal, it was learned today. Two other Americans, whose names are withheld, have also been retained by persons now residing in Copenhagen who are interested in William Hohenzollern's defense. Mr. George is author of a trade pamphlet dealing with problems of law and finance. He is an authority on international law and the law of extradition.

MRS. MELLEN IS NAMED IN SUIT

"Kitten" Letters to Hotel Man Mentioned by Wife Seeking Separation

New York, July 31.—The friendship of Mrs. Charles S. Mellen for Douglas Brown, hotel man, which formed the basis of the New York Supreme Court president's successful suit for separation last Fall, is stressed in Mrs. Margaret Mackin Brown in a complaint filed here in an action for separation and $100,000 alimony.

The correspondence "Douglas-Kitten" letters which figured so prominently in the trial of the Mellen suit are again to be produced before the court, it is indicated when she has sent here from her Atlantic City home to institute the proceedings against Brown.

NEWS SHOCKS BROWN.

Brown, who was served with a copy of the complaint at the suburban residence he now manages, attributed the action to the spiteful vengeance of a man who is interested in going to the ends of the earth to wreak vengeance upon Mrs. Mellen and himself.

"If the presses me too far," Brown declared, "I shall have to tell some very unpleasant truths about him."

News of the suit was a great shock to him, for I had hoped my wife would give me an opportunity to forget what is past and begin the rebuilding of my career," said the hotel man.

"But apparently she will not have it so. I suppose the Mellen letters will again be spread upon court records and in the newspapers. I was assistant manager of the Hotel Vanderbilt, you will remember, when that scandal spring before, and they all but ruined me. No one took into account the fact that they were written when I was a year before I was married.

"A spiteful desire at persecution is behind this suit. There is a man higher up in it, a man who is interested in going to the ends of the earth to wreak vengeance upon Mrs. Mellen and myself. He is the reason me too far I shall have to tell some very unpleasant truths about him."

Mrs. Mellen is several years Brown's friend, and my wife knows it. In bringing her name into court proceedings again there is surely nothing her own sense of vengeance. Almost two years ago our little home was broken separate. There was no prohibition against court action on the part of either of us, and I was brought to my half of my salary.

"She alleges I have failed to meet these payments. Well, how does one apply the peculiar process of getting blood out of a stone? By starting an alienation suit against Mrs. Mellen and by helping Mr. Mellen in his action my wife's subpoena in that capacity. Naturally, I was unable to pay.

"However she is far better off than I am. Her first husband, Billy Mackin, left her quite a fortune, besides a home in Atlantic City and a $50,000 heart necklace and other jewelry which she still has."

Mrs. Brown's first husband, William Mackin, was a widely known sporting man.

DENIES DRINKING CHARGE.

Mrs. Brown alleges habitual intoxication and cruelty in her complaint. Her husband's dark eyes danced when he told of this. He said:

"See here" and held out a huge arm, "does that look like a chronic alcoholic's muscle? Of course I am not a teetotaler, one can hardly be such in this business.

"And it is true as she avers that I kept very late hours when I was at the Vanderbilt. Why, often when in the Lafayette ballroom or other functions kept me with them until 5 or 6 o'clock in the morning. Of course, I was late getting in.

"Nothing would please me more than gaining my freedom. But I'm going to fight this suit to the end because it is an unjust suit."

FIRE IN HYDE PARK CAUSED BY CHILDREN

Fire said to have been caused by the three children of Lorenzo Clevenging of No. 55 Business street playing with matches in the barn in the rear of his home, threatened for a time to conflagrate Italian district of Hyde Park today. Two alarms were sounded for the blaze, which was placed under control only after it had damaged several tenements and destroyed the barn.

The barn, a two-story frame structure, housed a carriage and wagon tools, and the barn, the flames spread to the adjoining barn at No. 53 and No. 49 Business street. Flying sparks also set fire to the homes of Louis Russo at No. 57 and Mrs. Rose Clare at No. 24 Barry street.

A barn owned by the Putney Mooney estate in the rear of No. 57 Business street was threatened by the flames.

The damage was estimated at $1,000.

WARN WILSON NATION FACES BREAD RIOTS

Cost of Living Must Be Cut Down, Labor Leaders Advise President

Washington, July 31.—"Reduce the daily increasing high cost of living or face bread riots."

That in effect is the chief slogan now impressed on President Wilson and his chief aides by national labor and sociologically leaders. It is expected here that the President will, in the very near future, ask Congress to take drastic measures to end a situation that is becoming more and more intolerable.

The President last night and again today was studying the report presented to him by Warren S. Stone and the labor board of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Their flat declaration that "A widespread spirit of unrest exists among all classes, and especially among wage-earners whose wages will no longer provide adequate food, shelter and raiment for themselves and families," has stirred the chief executive very deeply, his friends declare.

The concrete warning by the chiefs of the engineers of the dangers confronting the American people furnished a fit text for pointing up of many similar statements which have been pouring in on the White House and the various government departments ever since the President came to Washington.

PROBE BY PRESIDENT.

It is now expected that the Cabinet will be asked at once to have the experts in the various departments initiate a thorough probe into the causes of the soaring prices of foodstuffs.

Meanwhile, the President personally will look into the charges that the lowering purchasing power of the American dollar has been reduced through manipulation by food profiteers, who are operating in every part of the United States. Organized labor is declared today to be a unit in favoring drastic action by the government.

Certain of the leaders are claimed to be extremely favorable to the authorization by Congress of a board of control, created with absolute authority to fix prices on all kinds of food and clothing. That such action will be taken is believed certain unless the cost of foodstuffs undergo an easier workable plan that will cope with the situation.

With the demobilization of the army and the return of the millions of soldiers to civil life, it had been expected that production costs would drop and that this would carry down the prices. The contrary has been the case.

CONGRESS IS STIRRED.

Congress stands ready to aid President Wilson in any way to lower living costs, Senator Gronna of North Dakota, chairman of the Agriculture committee, declared today.

"Of course this question of the high cost of living is a very horrible problem," said Senator Walsh of Massachusetts. "I believe that the President should be able to offer some suggestions to Congress, but I really believe the matter will have to be dealt with by Congress on its own initiative. It seems to me that it is a matter for congressional action rather than presidential action. I do not believe there is anything the President can do except to offer suggestions to Congress.

"In Massachusetts the question is becoming a very great issue and there is a strong agitation there for government control of food products, which may develop into something.'

Senator Kenyon of Iowa, who has been interested in the food cost question, also was doubtful whether there was any way of relief by presidential action.

Newark, N. J., Mayor Buys Food With City Funds for the Public

By International News Service.

Newark, N. J., July 31. — Mayor Charles P. Gillen blazed a trail into the high cost of living here today by purchasing, onto the market $100,000 worth of plain foodstuffs for sale direct to the consumer by the city. The fund was purchased with city funds from the United States army surplus, and the same opportunity is to every municipality in the country.

The Mayor himself opened the campaign by selling the first strip of bacon to a woman purchaser. It announced that every day for two hours in the forenoon and for three hours in the afternoon, food sales direct to the consumer will be conducted in the thirteen fire houses of the city.

Over the door of the Mayor's room today was a sign:

"Newark is cutting the high cost of living."

A great crowd was on hand, eager to take advantage of the low prices. Bacon sold for 26 cents a pound, and 500 pounds were disposed of in the first hour. The price in the city retail markets ranged from 45 to 55 cents a pound.

Sugar cured ham will be the next offering to the public, and after that canned vegetables.

City authorities warned that any attempt to buy food and resell it would result in ruthless exposure.

UNIVERSAL TRAINING BILLS BEFORE CONGRESS

Washington, July 31.—Universal military training for the army and navy is provided for in a bill introduced in the House today by Representative Kahn of California, chairman of the House military affairs committee. All able citizens, and those who have declared intention of becoming citizens, between the ages of eighteen and twenty years would be affected. The training would be for a period of six months.

Senator Chamberlain of Oregon introduced a bill in the Senate today providing for universal military training.

Here's a Way to Beat Old H. C. L. by a Foot or Two

Here's one way for old H. C. L. Heath lives in Everett, Sullivan in Malden.

Both are friends and ex-soldiers, one having lost the right foot in the war, the other the left. And both wear the same size shoes. So, yesterday, needing new shoes, they went hand in hand to Boston, bought one pair for $12, and divided up both on the shoes and the price.

The shoes cost $12. Six was the price each. Heath took the right shoe to Everett, while Sullivan stopped off in Malden.

BOYLSTON ST. STORE IS ROBBED

Eighty Valuable Gowns, Money and Watches Stolen; Door Was "Jimmied"

Eighty women's gowns, valued at $5,000; $80 in cash and two gold watches were stolen from the offices of the Boylston Clothing Company, No. 282 Boylston street, it was learned today.

The police said that entrance through the outer door was gained by means of false keys, the inner door being jimmied. The gowns were hanging in cabinets along the walls, the doors being unlocked.

The firm, which is one of the largest ladies' outfitters in the city, occupies the first and second floors of the building.

The robbery took place some time during the night, it was said.

RIDERS REFUSE TO QUIT CRIPPLED "L" TRAIN

Insisting upon the right to be carried through to their destination, passengers aboard an Everett station bound elevated train tied up service for fully 20 minutes when they refused to leave the train after the air brakes failed to work upon reaching Sullivan square. The brakesmen ordered the passengers out and also gave the motorman, but the passengers refused to budge.

While the trainmen worked frantically to remedy the air trouble, incoming trains were tied up a mile back along the line to the city square station in Charlestown. The trouble fixed, the train conveyed the passengers to their destination.

SENATE GRANTS $100 A MONTH FOR ATTENDANTS

Washington, July 31.—The Senate this afternoon passed an amendment to the war risk insurance act providing a monthly allowance of $100 a month for an attendant for any soldier, sailor or marine who lost both hands and both feet or both feet and both eyes or both hands and both feet in the recent war.

CITY ACTS TO SAVE NAVY YARD JOBS

Special Session of Council Called; Mass Meeting on Common resentment of navy yard workers would find expression at the polls.

Governor Coolidge today wired Washington in an effort to prevent the discharge of 3,500 employes of the Watertown Arsenal, which is said to be threatened.

The telegram, addressed to General William, chief of ordnance, read:

"I understand 3,500 men and women at the Watertown Arsenal are dissatisfied on account of not having been granted a hearing which they requested in regard to the general condition of that plant. I sincerely hope in order to avoid a serious disagreement the matter will have your immediate attention."

Representative William H. McDonald of South Boston previously had a delegation representing the workers, to the Governor's office. This delegation consisted of J. J. Hatfield, Edward J. Carey, W. J. Farmo and Stanley R. Byson. They stated they believed there is sufficient work to keep all the workers employed. They wish to present their case to a representative of the War Department at a hearing in Watertown.

YARD NEARLY DESERTED.

The general turn-out left the navy yard unmanned, except for the power house. In the line were those who had been discharged, others expecting it, and hundreds whose jobs were comparatively safe.

The crafts represented included boiler workers, ship-fitters, plumbers, maintenance employes, sheet metal workers, painters, draftsmen, joiners, shipwrights, cell makers, riggers, engineers and boat builders.

Edward J. Walker, vice-president of the Metal Trades Council of Charlestown, was chief marshal in the parade. The line was headed by a band, and at the head of each section marched a Stars and Stripes flag was carried. Many of those in the line also wore small flags on their coat lapels.

CALLS COUNCIL MEETING.

Acting Mayor Francis J. W. Ford today called a special meeting of the Boston City Council for 2:30 tomorrow evening to draft resolutions asking Congress for an additional appropriation to prevent the wholesale discharges.

This action followed a conference with a committee of the Metal Trades Council, John J. Gillis, chairman.

At the meeting on the Common Mr. Ford will read telegrams that had passed between Mayor Peters and the Navy Department. Under date of July 26, Mayor Peters wired the following to Secretary Daniels:

"It has been called to my attention by a delegation from the Metal Trades Council of the Boston Navy Yard that 7,500 employes of the yard had been suspended until August 1 for lack of funds, and that 75 per cent of all employes of the yard are going to be discharged today. This committee informs me that a great deal of work is still to be done, and money can be obtained to carry it on by transfer of appropriation from material appropriation to labor appropriation. Am asking that you lend every effort to have the transfer take place immediately, in order that the men may return to work."

Secretary Daniels wired on July 30:

"Replying to your telegram of the 26th, as much additional allotment of funds has been made for the Boston Navy Yard as warranted by conditions of appropriations."

APPROPRIATION CUT.

Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt also wired to Mayor Peters July 30 as follows:

"Replying to yours of 26th, Boston Navy Yard continued expenditures for July at the rate of June expenses without authority of the department in spite of reduced allotments and curtailed orders of the War Department at a hearing in Watertown.

"The cuts represented included boiler workers, ship-fitters, plumbers, maintenance employes, sheet metal workers, painters, draftsmen, joiners, shipwrights, cell makers, riggers, engineers and boat builders.

Edward J. Walker, vice-president of the Metal Trades Council of Charlestown, was chief marshal in the parade. The line was headed by a band, and at the head of each section marched a Stars and Stripes flag was carried. Many of those in the line also wore small flags on their coat lapels.

CALLS COUNCIL MEETING.

Acting Mayor Francis J. W. Ford today called a special meeting of the Boston City Council for 2:30 tomorrow evening to draft resolutions asking Congress for an additional appropriation to prevent the wholesale discharges.

This action followed a conference with a committee of the Metal Trades Council, John J. Gillis, chairman.

At the meeting on the Common Mr. Ford will read telegrams that had passed between Mayor Peters and the Navy Department. Under date of July 26, Mayor Peters wired the following to Secretary Daniels:

"It has been called to my attention by a delegation from the Metal Trades Council of the Boston Navy Yard that 7,500 employes of the yard had been suspended until August 1 for lack of funds, and that 75 per cent of all employes of the yard are going to

CURFEW RULE IS SOUGHT FOR SOUTH BOSTON BATHING BEACHES

ONE-PIECE SUITS IN DISFAVOR

Captain Rooney Would Have Girls Wear Stockings and Go Home at Midnight

A curfew rule for South Boston bathing beaches is sought by Captain John J. Rooney of City Point police station.

He believes that night-and-day beaches make for trouble, at least on the night side.

He would limit beach bathing hours to the extent of closing the beaches to midnight at the latest.

He also seeks to bar one-piece bathing suits for men and women and to have women and girl bathers compelled to wear bonnets.

The one-piece suit ban is not new on the Boston beaches. But the idea of a beach curfew is an innovation in this beach-ringed city.

Captain Rooney conferred with the City Park and Recreation Department today regarding the rules he desires the department to establish.

The South Boston captain is interested, of course, in the four-mile stretch of Pleasure, Point and Strandway beaches. But if the Park and Recreation Department establishes curfew and other rules for the South Boston beaches, these rules will doubtless be applied as well to the other city beaches, such as Savin Hill, Tenean, Wood Island Park, North End Park and so on.

A set of beach bathing rules is desired by Captain Rooney so his patrolmen may have some guidance for action.

City Point and Strandway beaches are family or neighborhood beaches, as distinguished from Revere, Nantasket or the other excursion resorts.

But complainants say that certain frivolous and daring persons wear as scanty and abbreviated bathing costumes along the South Boston piers as may be found at Nantasket.

The mayors of South Boston declare that South Boston beaches are no place for undue display and that some of the costumes worn there go beyond the line of respectability.

JOSEPHINE CURRAN WEDS W. H. ——ENNEDY

The wedding of ——Josephine Antoinette Curran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Curran of No. 3 Davidson avenue, Dorchester, to William Henry Joseph Kennedy, a teacher of the Boston Latin School and formerly a lieutenant in the U. S. Field Artillery, took place at St. Peter's rectory, Miss Curran ——acher of elocution and dancing. —— Edward Kenny performed the ——ony. The best man was John Shridde, the maid of honor was Miss Mary Curran, a sister of the bride, and the bridesmaid was Miss Margaret Howard. Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy left on a trip to New York and Atlantic City. They will be home to their friends to $10 weekly in the cases of the more skilled workers.

The general wage schedule submitted by the manufacturers has been rejected by the leaders of the shoemakers and will probably go to arbitration.

HOUSE RESOLVE SHUTS OFF ARMS TO MEXICO

Washington, July 31.—The prohibition against the shipment of arms and ammunition from the United States to Mexico will be applicable to the Carranza government as well as to other factions, if a conference adopts a joint resolution introduced in the House by Representative Hudspeth, Democrat, of Texas.

The Hudspeth resolution would make absolute the embargo announced in President Wilson's proclamation of July 12.

CUT WORK AT NEWPORT TORPEDO STATION

Newport, R. I., July 31.—Orders have been received by Captain Martin E. Trench, commanding officer of the torpedo station, from the Bureau of Ordnance of the Navy Department, to discontinue all private working the first of September. By the end of the month the nineteen women who have been employed in the machine department will be discharged also. On August 8 all the seamen (F) will be honorably discharged from the torpedo station.

BIENNIAL SESSIONS URGED BY S. W. GEORGE

The question as to whether the closing session of the Constitutional Convention, scheduled to meet August 12 will simply act upon the codification of the statutes and adjourn, or submit further amendments is being openly discussed. Delegate Samuel W. George of Haverhill openly states that it would be a serious mistake if the convention failed to submit the question of biennial sessions of the Legislature to the people before final adjournment.

The amendment for biennial elections was adopted last November,

Ballad of Bill Brown Sings Charms of the Air Service

All sorts of recruiting arguments have been presented to the public, especially during the recent drive in Boston, but it remains for Lieutenant Colonel L. H. Drennan, Junior Military Aviator, and Air Service Officer of the Northeastern Department, to employ prose poetry to charm more men into the Air Service.

Colonel Drennan submits the following, taken, he says, from the "Texas Coaster" and entitled, he claims, "Rooky Bill in the Air Service":

Bill Brown could never save a cent, his pay came in and out it went the self-same day that he was paid; a neat egg Bill had never laid. For silks and overcoats and sox and grub he parted with his rocks, lived in a hall-room, two by twice, in Winter cold as Greenland's ice, in Summer hot as Topsheba's clime. Poor Bill, he had a mournful time.

Bill longed to learn a useful trade by which much money could be made, to turn an aeroplane inside out and do its mysteries to boot, to pull it gaily limb from limb and put it back, all true and trim. But gawky William had no skill and worked for wages almost still, toiling by day with main and might and studying in school at night. "This is a dawg's life," Willy said, "it'd almost just as well be dead."

One day while loitering in the street his roving optic chanced to meet a sign which told him there and then, his Uncle Sam wanted men. The slight made his ambition burn, the words "Enlist and learn and earn," filled his discouraged heart with hope. "By gosh!" said William, "that's the dope." He crossed the street without delay and signed up with the U. S. A.; then at an airdrome this true son soon learned to say "Give her the gun."

Then Rooky Bill forgot his woe; he learned what makes the motor go, what makes it stop when worn or ailing, and how to remedy its failing. A rookie expert he became, a master of the aero game, and when enlistment term expired at handsome wages he was hired. Meanwhile he got his living free, good food and clothes, now lands in deep fragrant outdoor air and many a friend—and liberal pay to boot. Poor Bill did not spend it all? No; no! He soaked it in the bank to grow.

But many big did woo'er Bill; his hollow tho began to fill, his back grew straight, his chest expanded, he was a manly when he landed home as his native soil again a man respected among men. His chin held high, his eye serene, for life and work Bill Brown was keen. "The world's my oyster," chuckled he. "The army's made a man o' me."

MONAHAN TELLS OF ATTEMPT TO BRIBE HIM

Says He Was Offered Big Price to Withdraw in Long's Favor

Ex-Senator George F. Monahan of Charlestown, now the self-styled "people's candidate" for Governor on the Democratic ticket, at a noon-day rally in Temperton square today told his listeners of the "big" price he was offered in his office at Young's Hotel for withdrawal from the race in favor of Richard H. Long. The "big" price alluded to said Monahan, was of sufficient size to make him happy for the rest of his natural life. He turned it down.

He outlined his platform to wage a bitter fight against prohibition in the state of Massachusetts and restore to the citizens the right to drink a beverage containing alcohol, to give the highest wages to union men against the League of Nations, and for equal rights for all, special rights for none.

He bitterly assailed Governor Calvin Coolidge and the manner in which he handled the recent "L" strike situation. "Instead of Governor Coolidge being a fifth place on the hill, the strike committee had to chase him up through Boxford.

"I assure you, that if a Governor named Monahan is on the hill there will be no more strikes in this Commonwealth."

OBJECTS TO HAVING HIS OBITUARY PRINTED AGAIN

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 31.—"Please don't print my obituary again tomorrow," said a voice over the phone, talking to the city editor of a local paper.

When the newspaper man had regained his composure he learned that the speaker was A. J. Holman and that he was in an accident twenty-one years ago. It was believed he had been killed and his obituary was printed. Last year the same paper under the heading "Happenings of Twenty Years Ago" reprinted the obituary. On the eve of the twenty-first anniversary of the accident Holman took the precaution to see that he wasn't killed for a third time.

FUNERAL MASS SUNG FOR MRS. P. M. MORRISSEY

The funeral of Mrs. Margaret M. Morrissey took place from her home, No. 25 Fuller street, today, with a requiem high mass at St. Gregory's Church at 9 o'clock. Rev. Francis V. Murphy was celebrant. MINISTERS ASK PARDON FOR PEAKES

Clemency Plea Opposed by Attaux Co., From Whom He Stole $12,000

A hearing on the petition for a pardon for Charles E. Peakes, now serving a sentence in State Prison for the larceny of $12,000 from the W. E. Atteaux Company, was held today before the State Board of Parole. Several witnesses, including two ministers, testified in behalf of Peakes. Francis M. Carroll, attorney for the Atteaux Company, of which Peakes was treasurer, opposed the pardon, declaring that the prisoner was concealing some of the money and now wishes to "secure the fruits of his crime."

Peakes was arrested in 1917 and charged with the larceny of $6,397.62 from his employers, through raising the amounts of foreign drafts. Later discoveries increased the amount to $12,000, the crime being discovered by a difference in the quality of the ink used.

Judge Dana in the Superior Court, after hearing all the evidence, sentenced Peakes to from four to seven years. The case was taken to the Supreme Court on appeal, and the Supreme Court overruled the appeal last January.

The Rev. Dr. Frederick B. Gruel, pastor of a church in Weston, Peakes' home, before his arrest, testifying to the excellent character of the prisoner, today said he had been selected to lead a Bible class of adult members of the church.

"He was fond of me now, a man of the highest moral character," said Dr. Gruel. "During the course of Biblical studies we engaged in together I reached the conclusion that he was a man of honor and integrity I cannot conceive of him being guilty of larceny and forgery."

The Rev. Dr. Charles F. Rice, pastor of the South Street Methodist Episcopal Church of Lynn, testified he had known Peakes for many years. "During that time I never met any one whom I thought it would have been more impossible of committing such a crime than Mr. Peakes," he said. "I do not believe now that he is guilty."

20 Mexican 'Cops' Vow Jack Johnson Is No "Has Been"

The atmosphere rang with "Carramba!"
And other hot Mexican stuff.
As Johnson, the black, hurled the Spiggoties back,
He sure used them Chocolates rough.
But calling enough reinforcements,
The enemy finally won.
Which shows that a "Mex" gains tremendous effects,
When fighting at twenty to one."

(Chili Concarne Carols.)

Jack Johnson is better than seven policemen (Mex).

But twenty policemen (Mex) are better than Johnson.

Just what equals the black pugilist in policemen (Mex) is yet to be known. But it lies somewhere between seven and twenty.

Johnson hurled seven out of his house in Mexico City while defending his automobile from replevin. But twenty dragged Jack and the auto to court.

Seven in court, to show there was no hard feeling, Johnson gave a demonstration of weight-lifting by holding a fat court officer up in the air high above his head. The court was convinced.

Such is the gist of a bizarre tale that flashed over the cables to the Boston American today from the Mexican capital.

The story was printed in the Mexico City papers, in Spanish, of course. It was translated into English by a friend.

Johnson and his manager came out owing money. Johnson's creditors attached his automobile, which was the only property Jack had of any legal visibility.

A Mexican court officer and six Mexican cops went to Johnson's house for the car. They showed double intelligence—first in going in numbers; second, in picking a time when Johnson was known to be absent from the premises.

Failing to quite from the cabled translation of the Mexican version the following story is gathered:

Mrs. Johnson telephoned her husband to the house and prevented him from attempting to be taken away from him.

Upon his arrival on the scene Johnson threw out of his house the court officer and one-by-one the six cops, all of whom found themselves on the street without being able to accomplish anything and to fetch him.

In the street the repulsed enemy held a number of war and decided to call for help and plenty of it. The Mexican version resumes:

REINFORCEMENTS COME.

Shortly arrived assistance that in thirteen more cops altogether twenty. They went after Johnson, who nevertheless defended his person and his automobile against odds.

At first he tried to push them all out of his house, but at last Johnson was forced to present himself in court.

The next chapter, the scene in court, shows that Johnson abandoned force for diplomacy, with happy results. The story continues:

Seeing that his chances were rather slim, Johnson made himself perfectly friendly with the judge, all fines and costs were waived for insults expressed and treatment accorded the twenty cops.

In order to show his prowess and strength Johnson lifted one eight in the court room and one of the burly court officials with both hands above his head, impressing very much the judge and every other person present of his muscle power.

However, there came a silver lining to the legal cloud. The story goes on:

But recently a local friend loaned Johnson another automobile of a blue-gray color. He chases around town at neck-breaking speed.

He wore a Russian style felt cap which comes well down over his ears and forehead, hardly showing his face, except his white large teeth, which he pleases to show whenever a cop tries to let down his name and address, to take his cap off of course, always refusing and dashes away, leaving the officer of the law wondering what to do in his case.

FRENCH COLD TO U. S., SAYS REPRESENTATIVE KING

Washington, July 30.—Representative Edward J. King of Illinois, who returned today from a six weeks' trip to France, Germany, Belgium and Holland, including the battlefields, was nursing his left wrist, which was injured at Brest, when a man hiding behind a hedge threw stones at the machine in which he was riding. The auto, he said, bore the American flag. France, with the exception of officialdom, King said, does not appreciate what we did for them. The feeling toward us is not kindly. The great mass of people in France while not actively opposed to a League of Nations, treat the idea indifferently and as a Utopian theory. Our boys are unanimous in their desire to get home."

GEN. DONNELLY KILLED IN PLUNGE OF AUTO

Blue Ridge, Pa., July 31.—Brigadier-General Arthur Barrett Donnelly was commanded the 48th Infantry brigade of the 25th Division, was killed near here when his automobile plunged down a steep grade in the Blue Ridge Mountains and overturned. Mrs. Donnelly was thought to have been the cause.

Mrs. Donnelly, her daughter and two others were badly injured.

BOAT OWNER NEAR DEATH BY EXPLOSION

Lewis Tyler, owner of the gasoline launch Nanta, narrowly escaped death when the gasoline tank aboard the craft exploded following a backfire of the engine while it was tied up in Yadie Wharf, Charlestown. The boat was badly damaged.

Tyler was forced to seek safety by jumping from the launch to the lumber.

TEACHERS TO GET MORE PAY IN NORTH ADAMS

North Adams, July 31.—Increases for local school teachers amounting to about $25,000 have been submitted by the local school committee to the finance committee of the City Council for consideration. It is expected the school committee's request will be somewhat cut by the finance men but substantial increases in teachers salaries are looked for.

RETURN WIRE SYSTEMS TO OWNERS TONIGHT

Washington, July 31.—Postmaster-general Burleson has issued orders returning all telegraph and telephone systems, lines and properties to their owners at midnight tonight. This is in accordance with the Congressional act approved July 11 and the President's proclamation of July 22.

PETERS SCORED FOR PARSIMONY WITH POLICE

New Committee to Press on Mayor the Need of Substantial Increase

Peters and several others called that morning on one head when he heard about a Boston gentleman who spent his bridal night at the old Revere House more than sixty years ago and went to neither the famous hostelry, now being auctioned by piecemeal, in the days of its decline. And when one sees her, in the silver gown a trifled cap of dainty lace, with a bridal bouquet by a bow of lavender ribbon?

Lavender and old lace in many ways, with the charm of old-time gentility. She is Mrs. Charles L. Lane of No. 19 Arlington street—a bride at twenty, now eighty-two years old and greatly saddened by the fate of the famous old hotel where Society lined the Prince of Wales, Daniel Webster, Christine Nilsson and many other celebrities once slept in the royal suite. To this suite went Mrs. Lane on the first stage of her wedding journey.

Shrinking with natural reticence from the idea of talking for publication, but moved by a tender spot of enthusiasm for the brave days when Boston aristocracy was cradled in the purlieus of Roerdon square, she told about her last visit to the old inn.

WANTS A LOVING CUP.

"I don't know what more is about it to interest anyone but me," she said, "that an old lady going back to see the place brought back memories with my wedding. When I heard the place was to be torn down and the furnishings sold, I felt very sad. I have asked the auctioneer to bid in for me one of the silver cups that formed part of the silver service.

"I have tried hard to get a wing chair in which I sat the night of a big open fire, but it was given away by the proprietor to a Boston newspaper man who has lived there for many years. He took the chair to his home at Exeter, N. H. I have begged him to sell me, and said I would willingly give $100 for it. He didn't want to sell it but invited me to come and sit in him and sit in it whenever I pleased.

OCCUPIED ROYAL SUITE.

Mrs. Lane was married first to Joseph Frost of Rochester, N. Y. After a widowhood of many years she married Mr. Lane, who died in 1891. Her first wedding took place in Dunwoodie, about 30 guests from many large Eastern cities. The party accompanied the bride and bridegroom from the Revere House, where they occupied the suite that had been prepared for Jennie Lind in 1850, and of the Prince of Wales royal suite because it housed the Prince of Wales, later King Edward VII.

The suite includes a bedroom, two dressing rooms and a large reception room in which the bridal party sat down and played on it on the night of February 22. It is also well remembered by Miss Lane.

VISITED OLD HOTEL.

"I recall every little incident as though it were yesterday," she said. "Things that I had long forgotten came back to me when I began to hear about the old house being sold for. Then I resolved to visit it again. The visit was a disappointment. I got in but very little and oversaw the place. Shortly after the accident, and three of the four occupants of the suite, Mrs. Lane and Pauline Jacobs, sustained slight injuries, but were able to return to their home. Ethel Stinson of Lynthrop, another occupant, escaped without injury.

ACCUSES NEIGHBOR OF THEFT OF HIS WINE

John Caggiano of No. 22 Sachem street, Lynn, was the proud owner of a barrel of wine which he valued at $200. The wine was stolen, according to Caggiano, and to add insult to injury, a large quantity was spoiled. The owner accused Frances Costa, 22, a next-door neighbor, and several other young men. Costa answered on a charge in the court today to answer to the charge. The case was postponed to August 11.

POLICE TAKE UP THEFT OF MATTRESS

The Boston police today officially took a hand in the investigation of the larceny of fifteen mattresses and an electric fan from the old Revere House during a fire last Sunday night.

Fire Commissioner John R. Murphy, who started the investigation, said that no individual had been charged with the theft, but it is understood that arrests may be made before long.

The articles were found in an unused cellar connected with the Bulfinch street section and were returned to the proprietors of the hotel. District Chief McMahon called the attention of the fire commissioner to the matter and an investigation was started at once.

The commissioner declared that the matter was a reflection on the integrity of the fire department, and asserted that he would not rest until it was cleared up. Up to recent days, no police have taken no official action.

TWO AUTOS IN CRASH AFTER ONE HITS CYCLIST

Leonard Gillis, twelve, of No. 283 Essex street, Lynn, is in the Lynn Hospital with a fractured arm and several cuts and bruises, as the result of being struck by an automobile driven by Valentine F. Macy of Harvard Court, Cambridge, on the state road between Nahant and Lynn. Gillis was riding a bicycle when he was struck by the machine and thrown off.

Another car driven by Ella Jacobs of No. 44 Lowell street, Lynn, coming in the opposite direction, struck the Macy automobile shortly after the accident, and three of the four occupants of the machine, Ella, Sadie and Pauline Jacobs, sustained slight injuries, but were able to return to their home. Ethel Stinson of Lynthrop, another occupant, escaped without injury.

STARK MILLS INSURE THEIR 600 EMPLOYES

Manchester, N. H. July 31.—Sixteen hundred employes of the Stark Mills have been insured by the mill owners of the International Boston Dog Company on policies dating from July 1. Certificates will be issued free to the employes and will be presented to them very soon. Employes after three months' service with the company automatically become insured for $500.

"IRELAND MADE THE DUMPING GROUND FOR ENGLAND'S PRODUCTS"

COHALAN TELLS OF FAMINES MADE BY BRITISH

It is only fair to presume, as a result of this, that the English tradesman, who is as shrewd, as adroit, as far-seeing in his own field as is the English diplomat in the field of government, made a profit of at least 15 per cent on the turnover of this business with Ireland.

Ireland thus gives to England, in addition to the taxation, the profit of $225,000,000 annually for England in a single year a profit of $225,000,000 from her control of Ireland. That sum represents $25 per capita of every Englishman, woman and child on earth. Yet in the seventy years from 1845 to 1918, the population of Ireland, under what English spokesmen are pleased to call the benign reigns of Victoria, of Edward VII, and of George V, has decreased from more than eight and three-quarter millions to 4,390,219.

In that time, in spite of the cruelties and misgovernment practised upon the people of those continental countries, no change has been made and has been proved—as in the case of Ireland—of a government-made famine in which more than one million starved to death in a land of plenty and sent over two million more across the seas to seek in foreign countries an opportunity to live, an opportunity of which they were deprived in their own land by reason of the inhumanity of an alien government.

England has systematically broken down every effort made to build up the industries, to develop the resources of Ireland, while her spokesmen sing in chorus that all the wrongs of Ireland are ancient wrongs and that Ireland is today governed by the same laws that govern Europe and therefore the Irish people should be contented with their lot and cease to cry for liberty.

These assertions do not bear the slightest investigation of an impartial mind. Ireland has been turned into a grazing country by the laws of England and by the acts of the English government. The system of laws made for a highly complex industrial state like England are utterly out of place in a country whose main pursuit is made to be agriculture.

GREAT HARBORS IN IDLENESS.

The shipping controlled by England and Ireland from the time of contact with the rest of the world and keeps in idleness twenty of the greatest harbors in Europe. It prevents the modern development of the ports of Cork, Limerick, Galway, Sligo and Dublin, ports which centuries ago were great trading ports, carrying on extensive commerce with the countries of continental Europe.

The railroads of the smaller and poorer country are controlled by the railroads of the richer and larger country, so that it cost until recently as much to send a barrel of flour from Galway to Dublin as it would to send it from Chicago to Liverpool.

Most of the banks in Ireland are bought up or controlled by the banks of England, with the result that the deposits are not invested in Ireland for the development of its resources or the upbuilding of its industries, but are placed at the disposal of English manufacturers and business men, to aid in their schemes for exploiting the rest of the world and beating down the industrial rivals of England in Europe and in the United States of America.

The Irish Mercantile Marine, which for centuries carried on a commerce with continental Europe and America, has been wiped out of existence by adverse English laws. It has been replaced only by ships which bring Ireland's goods to England and England's goods to Ireland, in such a manner as to make the Irish market, to all intents and purposes, the private monopoly of England.

England, roughly speaking, is one and one-half times the size of Ireland in square miles. When the Act of Union was laid upon Ireland, January 1, 1801, the population of Ireland was almost six million and the population of England was less than nine million. Today, the population of England is over thirty-six million, and the population of Ireland, according to the latest English census, is 4,390,219. At the same date which marks the application of the Act of Union to Ireland, the population of Scotland was 1,700,000, while today, for the first time in history, it is larger than the population of Ireland.

IRELAND MISREPRESENTED.

If Ireland had been satisfied to become the contented province of England and to abandon her fight for liberty and her desire for independence, if she would consent to become absorbed into England, to become a part of the English people, she would undoubtedly enjoy a prosperity that would mean all that the word implies.

It is because of the fact that she will not consent to such an arrangement, it is because she regards the ideal as of more consequence, even in this life, than she does the material, that Ireland must continue to be misrepresented abroad. In England has her way, her cries will continue in Ireland until that day and that generation when the British Empire, following all the other mighty empires of the past, shall hear the hour of her doom strike and shall be compelled to give way to the onward march of events which will carry the world into the mighty empire and bring freedom to the peoples all over the earth who are oppressed by it. Thoughtful observers the world over agree that that day is not far distant.

England has time after time overrun Ireland with her armies, with her confiscators, but she has never conquered Ireland, and unless all signs by which the future may be gauged fail, she never can conquer Ireland.

Today, England faces an Irish race scattered all over the world, totaling thirty millions of people. She may boast that the sun never sets on the British Empire, but she must also admit that it never sets on the flag of Irish blood. Wherever he has gone into what country he may have been absorbed, the remains inexorably loyal to the British government and the things for which that government stands.

He was as American historians tell us, the first to raise the banner of revolt against England in this country. According to that remarkable volume, "Hidden Pages of American History," by Michael J. O'Brien, per cent of the rank and file of Washington's army were Irishmen, or sons of Irishmen, the most determined, the most unflinching enemy England had in America.

He harbors no enmity against the English people. He pities rather than condemns them for the infamous order which they suffer. He understands the economic slavery which is imposed upon them, but he is the unrelenting, the unflinching enemy of the conscienceless chicanery and corrupting influence which are the chief weapons of English diplomacy.

(Another article by Judge Cohalan will appear in tomorrow's Boston American.)

MRS. PAGE TO CHRISTEN BIGGEST SEAPLANE SHIP

London, July 31.—Mrs. Page, wife of the former U. S. Ambassador to Great Britain, will christen H 12 S Eagle, which will shortly be commissioned in the British navy as the world's largest seaplane carrier.

The vessel is 625 feet long, displaces 28,000 tons and will have a speed of 22 knots. She carries no masts nor funnels, the smoke being discharged from horizontal ducts at the stern of the upper deck, ensuring that no facilities for the landing of aircraft.

SENATE FOR LOWER CEREAL DRINK TAX

Washington, July 31.—The Senate Finance Committee ordered a redrafting of the bill passed by the House fixing a tax on pure fruit juices at 3 cents a gallon, and ordered an amendment in the redrafting to lower the tax on cereal beverages. The purpose of the redrafting is to obtain a more equal distribution of the taxes, it was explained.

La-May Face Powder Is Harmless to the Most Delicate Skin

A specialist has at last perfected a pure face powder that positively will not cause enlarged pores, blackheads and irritations. In fact, while it is considered the best face powder, it is also a remedy for complexion troubles. It is guaranteed pure and harmless to the most delicate baby skin. It beautifies wonderfully because it helps to clear and lighten the skin and protect the complexion from blemishes. This new kind of face powder is made largely of an ingredient that skin specialists use in the treatment of the complexion. And it really stays on better than any other face powder. Of course, saying this, every one knows we mean the famous La-may Powder (French Powder) Arsa. This is the powder that does not contain starchy rice powder or dangerous white lead to make it adhere. White lead is a deadly poison and rice powder turns into a shiny paste that makes enlarged pores, blackheads and rice powder complexion. Because La-may is so pure and because it stays on so well it is now used by over a million American women. All dealers carry the large box, and many dealers also carry the small trial size. Be sure to try La-may. Then you will really know a perfect face powder. You will be sorry if you take a substitute. When you use this harmless powder and see how beautifully it improves your complexion, you will understand why La-may so quickly became the most popular beauty powder sold in America. Save this notice.

Hot Tea and Frozen Cream Very Constipating

THERE is little inclination for solid food on a hot day. Cold drinks and ices, salads and pastry form much of the diet, especially among women. This lack of wholesome variety, however, interferes with proper digestion.

The result is biliousness, listlessness, dizzy spells. The cause is constipation. The stomach could not digest nor the bowels pass off the day's strange mixture of food and drink.

A simple way of overcoming the trouble is this: If you have not already got Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in the house, go to a drug store and buy a 50c or $1 bottle. Take a teaspoonful tonight before you go to bed. It will act in the morning, and immediately thereafter your head will be clear and that feeling of oppression will be gone.

Syrup Pepsin is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin. It acts on the stomach-muscles training them to do their work naturally so that medicine can be dispensed with. It is the most widely used laxative compound in the world. That means merit.

A free sample bottle can be had by sending your address to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 460 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

So Disfigured Ashamed To Go Out Cuticura Healed

"My face was affected with pimples and I was so disfigured that I was ashamed to go out. The pimples came to a head and were hard and large. I was very restless at night and my face itched very much so that I used to scratch the pimples until they'd burn and bleed.

"I had the trouble about two years before I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After using a free sample I purchased two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment. Before I had used the second cake of Cuticura Soap with the two boxes of Cuticura Ointment my face was healed." (Signed) Miss C. Hermann, 9 Kittler Ave., Adams, Mass., Mar. 18, 1919.

Daily use of Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum usually prevent skin troubles.

GIRLS! USE LEMONS FOR SUNBURN, TAN

Try It! Make this lemon lotion to whiten your tanned or freckled skin.

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle, sunburn and tan lotion, and complexion whitener, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of Orchard White for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands and see how quickly the freckles, sunburn, windburn and tan disappear and how clear, soft and white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless.—Advertisement.

HOW TO JUDGE A WOMAN BY HER HAIR

There is real common sense in just noticing whether the hair is well kept to judge of a woman's neatness, or good taste. If you are one of the few who try to make the most of your hair, remember that it is not advisable to wash the hair with any cleanser made for all purposes, but always use some good shampoo. You can enjoy the very best by getting some can-throx from your druggist, dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid, enough to fill it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head. Dandruff, excess oil, and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its luster and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health that insures hair growth. — Advertisement.

92 VETERANS HEAD ELIGIBLE FIRE LIST

Ninety-two war veterans head the eligible list of candidates for the Boston Fire Department, made public today by the Civil Service Commission. This announcement follows the first examination for the fire service taken under the recently enacted law which provides that veterans shall take precedence over other eligible candidates.

The number of veterans to qualify in the firemen's test is held to be a proof of the claims made by certain legislators during the session just prorogued that the minimum age of twenty-five in the police department kept many out of the test for police appointments while the minimum age of twenty-two for firemen admitted many of the young men. An attempt was made to pass an order through the Legislature reducing the minimum age for appointment to the police department to twenty-two, but this proved futile.

The list just published is as follows, in the order of eligibility:

VETERANS.

Not Why You SHOULD—But Why Many Women DO Patronize the

AUGUST SALE OF BLANKETS

In the words of one woman the following reasons are given for rounding out a winter supply of blanks now in defiance of the hot weather—

This woman says—

"I always make a point of buying my bedding in the summer, not only because of the markdowns, but because all living expenses mount up so in the winter. It evens things up. In winter the are:

"Necessary more expensive clothes to be bought for the whole family;
"Coal and fuel to buy;
"Meats and richer foods, for the family must have more energy to withstand the cold weather;
"Doctor's bills, for a winter is seldom weathered without illness in the family;
"School expenses;
"Moresocial obligations and entertainments, which only economies of make possible.

"So, whatever can do to save money now in supplying things for the months to come, I count it a double econs and plan to take advantage of it."

Certainly shias found her wishes successfully gratified with such offeags as these:

THE SHEPARD STORES

TAUGHT 25 YEARS NOW THERE'S NO PLACE FOR HER

Friends of Miss Ellen Hogan Demand Reinstatement in Schools of Natick

"It's not well done, thou good and faithful servant, it's all done, instead."

That is the way friends of Miss Ellen Hogan, teacher for twenty-five years in the first and second grades of Natick schools, characterize the refusal of the school committee to restore her to her place.

There is no doubt but that ever a year ago Miss Hogan secured a leave of absence after twenty-five years' teaching last May, intending to Miss Hogan and her friends she appointed her successor and place, only to be told that her substitute, who had been appointed temporarily, had received the permanent appointment.

NO PLACE FOR HER.

"There is no place in the schools for Miss Hogan," declared A. L. Potter, chairman of the School Committee, and Edgar A. Willard, superintendent of schools. "The vacancy left by Miss Hogan has been filled. There was no other vacancy in the first and second grades, where she taught. Therefore it was impossible to reinstate her."

Mere camouflage, maintain her other admirers in Natick, and who, incidentally are circulating a petition, praying for her removal to have Miss Hogan reinstated. "Miss Hogan's letter asking for her reinstatement went to the committee in May, before they had made their appointments. That letter was held up till after the appointments were made. And then a polite letter of regret was sent to Miss Hogan, they say.

Miss Hogan herself, when seen at her mother's Summer camp at Lake Cochituate, was resigned to whatever the committee decides.

"It is not fitting or appropriate for me to engage in any controversy," said she. "We have always lived in peace with the school authorities and our fellow citizens, and we wish to go on the same way. The situation is as described. I applied to be restored to my old position. I applied before the appointments were made, I believed. After a long delay the letter reached me that the appointments had been made, and there was no vacancy for me, that my old position had been filled. I am going nothing about a petition. What my friends do is their own responsibility."

GAVE FAITHFUL SERVICE.

Superintendent Willard admitted that Miss Hogan had given twenty-five years of satisfactory service for the town of Natick, and that, at the direction of the committee he had written her a letter of commendation when she withdrew. "I do not know however, that there ever again will be a vacancy for Miss Hogan," he declared emphatically, "I say no."

In the meantime, the petition is going the rounds in Natick, while friends of Miss Hogan point out that for twenty-five years her classes were considered the model classes by the visitors from the State Normal School, and that Superintendent Whittemore, of the Framingham Normal School, brought his pupils each year, to study her methods.

"I shall do nothing to secure my old position," says Miss Hogan. "It would not be fitting."

"But we shall finish with that petition, and demand her reinstatement," the townspeople affirm.

"There is no vacancy," say the superintendent and chairman, "and when there will be, it is hard to say."

WILSON TO REVIEW PACIFIC FLEET SEPT. 2

Washington, July 31.—President Wilson will review the Pacific fleet at San Francisco, according to present plans, on either September 2 or 3, it was announced at the White House.

The fleet is due to arrive at San Diego on August 25 and at Los Angeles two days later. Leaving Los Angeles, it will "dash" to San Francisco, being scheduled to arrive the first week in September. It is expected that the President will start on his speaking tour about August 25.

GIRL DROWNED, 5 OTHERS NEAR DEATH IN LAKE

Kate Corbett of Somerville, one of the Children Players' League among those rescued in bathing tragedy at Lake Sunapee, N. H.

Sunapee, N. H., July 31.—Marion Reck, thirteen, of No. 26 Ladd street, Watertown, Mass., was drowned and five other members of a concert company of the Child Players' League of Cambridge, together with the mother of one of them, were rescued while the party was bathing in Lake Sunapee.

The rescued, all of whom are residents of Greater Boston, are:

Kate Corbett, No. 35 Central street, Somerville.
Catherine Carroll, No. 13 Elton avenue, Watertown.
Dorothy Cavanaugh, No. 233 Harvard street, Cambridge.
Mary Alice Scanlon, No. 22 Monroe street, Somerville.
Olive Olsen, No. 51 Brookline street, Cambridge.
Mrs. Mary Cavanaugh, No. 233 Harvard street, Cambridge.

The children, seventy, made up of girls all about thirteen years of age, were to have given an engagement at the Bon Mere Hotel tonight under the direction of Miss Ruth Fielding of Cambridge, teacher of elocution, dancing and singing.

RECK GIRL DIVES.

Marion Reck, who was a talented pianist, was the only member of the party who could swim. She and all her companions except Dorothy Cavanaugh had left the water when the Cavanaugh girl, wishing to splash low water, shouted to them to join her.

The Reck girl dove into the water and swam toward her companion. She had gone but a few yards when she disappeared beneath the water. She reappeared a moment later and screamed for aid, but before it could reach her she sank again.

The five other girls, in a panic, waded out into the water to the spot where Marion went down. They were caught by an undercurrent and in an instant were struggling helpless. Mrs. Cavanaugh, who accompanied the party as matron, thereupon plunged into the water fully clothed and she, too, was caught in the undercurrent. She and the five girls rescued were unconscious when they were dragged ashore by several of the summer guests who had been attracted to the spot from the hotel by the screams. Three members of a local Campfire Girls' Club effected remarkable rescues.

DRAG MADE FOR VICTIM.

Mrs. Cavanaugh and the five girls revived after respiratory treatment by physicians. It was not until the water had been dragged for more than an hour that the body of the Reck girl was recovered.

Marion Reck was a pupil in the Watertown grammar school. She possessed marked talent for the piano, with the result that she was chosen by the Child Players' League as a member of one of the concert groups which tour beach resorts under the auspices of that organization.

ASK BEECKMAN TO CALL BACK LEGISLATORS

Public Sentiment Demands R. I. Car Strike Be Settled, Governor Is Told

Providence, July 31.—Agitation for a special Legislative session to settle the street car strike was revived today. Governor Beeckman was normally petitioned to force the Legislature back and keep them on the job until they find a solution for the difficulty.

Senator Jeremiah Downey, a former State Senator William Troy, Mr. Troy informed the Governor that public sentiment demanded that the Legislature take a hand to relieve a situation increasingly costly to life and costing the city $10,000 a day.

The application for the special session was made after all other efforts to end the tieup had come to nothing. The Superior Court decision which ordered a referendum on the strike today by union chiefs, enjoined union and declared illegal, was upheld today by Attorney-General W. Whipple for the Rhode Island Company.

The case will not move until there are summoned before the receivers to show cause why the arbitration law should not come shortly, but the strike leaders do not expect any real success toward a resumption of car service immediately.

DECISION BY FRIDAY.

It is said at Strike Headquarters that the question of men returning to work pending arbitration will be definitely settled by Friday, the end of the week, at midnight, which is the time specified for the men to return to work in accordance with the court decree, provided the terms governing the arbitration is satisfactory to the union leaders.

Attorney General Herbert A. Rice, who suggested to the court that the Public Utilities Commission act as a board of arbitration, said:

"I believe the carmen have been led into an untenable position. I do not think they are to blame. I believe their leaders are responsible for insisting upon a demand it is impossible to obtain from the court. Why do they object to a review by the court as the law requires? Because of this technical objection the situation is at a standstill. The carmen will not accept the only arbitration possible. This is most unfortunate for the public and for all concerned. If they continue to insist upon an impossibility, then some new plan should be undertaken upon a practicable basis."

INSIST ON KNOWING TIME.

Strike leaders deny that they are asking an impossibility and state they positively will not be a party to an arbitration by the Public Utilities Commission.

They will insist on knowing when a final decision will be rendered before putting the question before the strikers in mass meeting.

Whether the men will return to work Friday at midnight will depend upon the outcome of the conference of union leaders and the receivers, say union officials.

HAIR HINTS

Helpful Advice for Care of the Hair Worthy the Attention of Everyone Who Would Avoid Dandruff, Itching Scalp, Gray Hair and Baldness.

If your hair is getting thin or you are troubled with dandruff or itching scalp, use Parisian sage daily for a week and you will surely be surprised to see how quickly it stops your hair from falling and removes every sign of dandruff and itching scalp.

"Before going to bed I rub a little Parisian sage into my scalp," says a woman whose luxurious, soft and fluffy hair is greatly admired. "This keeps my hair from being dry, brittle or scraggly, helps it to retain its natural color and beauty, and makes it easy to dress attractively."

Beautiful, soft, glossy, healthy hair, and lots of it, is a simple matter for those who use Parisian sage. This harmless, tasteless, delicately perfumed, and non-greasy hairgrower is sold at all good drug and toilet counters. Be sure you get the genuine Parisian sage (Giving Full Name) as the money-back guarantee printed on every package.—Advertisement.

HARRIS GIRL'S DEATH DUE TO ACCIDENT

Autopsy Reveals No Trace of Foul Play; Fiance Released

Pompton Lake, N. J., July 31.—An autopsy held at Riverdale on the body of Mabel Harris, which was recovered at the foot of the dam in the Ramapo River, shows that the girl met death by drowning. There was but little water in the lungs, but Dr. Colfax, who performed the autopsy, said this probably was due to the fact that the girl was stunned in going over the thirty-foot dam and was suffocated without taking much water into the lungs.

Lester Decker, the girl's fiance and her companion in the fatal canoe trip Sunday evening, was released from custody today.

Following the autopsy it was announced by Prosecutor Dunn and Dr. Colfax that the girl's death was accidental. There was no indication of foul play he added.

Says Auto Bearing American Flag Was Stoned in France

Washington, July 31.—Representative Edward J. King of Illinois, who returned from a six weeks' trip to France, Germany, Belgium and Holland, including the battlefields, was wearing his left wrist, which was injured at Brest, when a man hiding behind a hedge threw stones at the machine in which he was riding. The auto, he said, bore the American flag.

France, with the exception of officialdom," King said, "does not appreciate what we did for them. The feeling toward us is not friendly. The great mass of people in France, while not entirely opposed to a League of Nations, treat the idea indifferently and as a Utopian theory.

"Our boys are unanimous in their desire to 'get home.'"

MILFORD MACHINISTS' STRIKE IS DEFERRED

Milford, July 31.—Pending the conclusion of negotiations with their employers, strike action by the members of the Milford Lodge of Machinists has been deferred. The decision to hold in abeyance a strike order voted by the union was reached after a report had been received from H. J. Skeffington, Federal labor conciliator, that an amicable settlement is possible.

MRS. SKEELS IS HARDLY ABLE TO SPEAK

"Sunshine Nurse" Has Glandular Complication Which Puzzles Her Doctors

Lawrence, July 31.—Mrs. Bessie May Skeels Lundgren is still in a serious condition at the family home, No. 52 Whittier street, Andover.

She suffers from new complications in the form of glandular trouble which renders it very painful for her to talk. In attempting to speak Mrs. Lundgren is sometimes compelled to stop from pains in the throat, her nurse states.

A member of the Lundgren family stated that while Mrs. Lundgren, the "Sunshine Nurse" who faced trial here for the murder of Miss Florence Hay, and who acquitted, is apparently in no immediate danger of death, her condition changes momentarily. Her husband, Alfred Lundgren, has returned to his work in an Andover grocery after staying at his wife's bedside for the past several days during which it was thought she was dying.

Mrs. Lundgren's spirits are low and she is much discouraged at the physical setback she has sustained in the past few days. It is almost impossible to understand what she says, so inarticulately is she forced to talk.

Her condition still puzzles the physicians and little hope is held by them for her recovery.

NORTH GRAFTON SHOE STRIKE CALLED OFF

North Grafton, July 31.—The strike of the employes of the Forbush shoe shop, who demanded a 20 per cent. raise, has been called off as the result of several meetings of the men and the manufacturer.

The men agreed to wait until they get paid, and if the wages are unsatisfactory the workers will go to the office of the concern and talk things over with the owners. The firm has promised to give a raise which the workers will accept.

DESERTER HID IN WOODS FOR WHOLE YEAR

Elmer Cox, Former Devens Soldier, Who Became Mountain Hermit, Is Caught

Burlington, Vt., July 31.—After living in the mountains for a year to avoid capture as a military deserter, Elmer H. Cox of St. Johnsbury, whom the authorities have been seeking since he left Camp Devens without leave last August, is held today at Fort Ethan Allen.

Weakened mentally by his life as a recluse in the woods, Cox fell an easy victim to the strategy of Charles H. Howe of St. Johnsbury, who saw the hermit walking along a lonely country road and thought he recognized him as a man wanted for desertion.

Howe offered the pedestrian a "lift," and the invitation was accepted. Howe thereupon drove to the Caledonia county jail and turned the man over to the sheriff. The latter communicated with the Camp Devens authorities, with the result that Cox was brought here.

Cox, who is thirty years old, has lost the power of coherent speech as a result of his self-exile in the mountains.

ARMY OFFICERS TO EDUCATE ORPHAN

Sixteen-Year-Old Filipino Wanted to Enlist at Camp Devens

Camp Devens, Ayer, July 31.—Ray Forester, sixteen years old and a native born Filipino, is to become the ward of five kind-hearted army officers at this cantonment and they have pledged themselves to support and clothe him and look after his education along practical lines.

Footsore and weary and faint from lack of food, the youngster made his appearance in camp after a long hike from Boston and sought Lieutenant Friar whom he told he wanted to enlist.

Officers and men at first took it as a good joke but after the lad had told his pathetic little story their attitude changed.

Asked why he wanted to join the army, he said, "Cause I'm an orphan and ain't got no place to go, and I can't get a job."

"My name is Ray Forester," he drawled. "I am a Filipino. I came to this country five years ago with horse soldiers. My father and mother are dead. After a long time I got to Boston and worked in a paper box factory. I ain't got no job now. I can't get one. I thought I could either enlist or maybe work here."

The recruiting officers conferred and five of them assigned to the office, Captain John G. McDonald, Captain W. H. Read, of the adjutant-general's department, Captain W. T. McCann, Lieutenant Friar and Lieutenant Shea pledged themselves to "chip together" for the boy's support.

"Hay, you now have a job," announced Captain McDonald.

"Thank you, sir; I'll make good," he said, saluting snappily.

Simple Operations Fitted Together

The business of Swift & Company is the fitting together of many simple operations.

No one thing in a packing business is particularly difficult for men trained to do it; but no one thing is enough.

Thousands of other operations, properly performed, are necessary for the completed processes. And some one must fit together all these thousands of simple operations.

The success with which a packing business performs its function of supplying the best possible meat products to the consumer with the greatest possible benefit to both him and the producer depends upon the energy, brains, experience, and faithful effort of the men trained in the business.

Swift & Company turns the producer's live stock into meat for the consumer at a profit of only a fraction of a cent a pound, because it fits these operations together with the least waste, overlapping, and friction.

Do you believe government direction could do it better?

Let us send you a "Swift Dollar." It will interest you. Address Swift and Company Union Stock Yards, Chicago, Ill.

Fear Many Killed in Explosion of Still in Oklahoma

By International News Service.

Pauls Valley, Okla., July 31.—Several men are believed to have been killed when a still at the Cosden refinery exploded here this morning.

Every available ambulance in the city has been sent to the refinery, where flames are making the rescue work difficult.

One body has been recovered and it is feared that many workers have been trapped by the fire.

Three men that at the time he was arrested he was in a hurry to get to Bank of Commerce, which he considered as the gas would run so much as to be useless. Judge Barnes said that he saw no excuse and after advising the defendant to buy a can of gas from his dealer, discharged him.

Four other violators of traffic regulations were in East Boston court today. Wesley E. Simons of Atlantic street, Winthrop, was fined $25 for speeding and $5 for failure to sound his horn at street intersections. John Dudley attached to Fort Banks, was given a suspended fine of $15 for speeding and fined $5 for failing to blow his horn. Daniel Nesson of Huntington avenue, Boston, and Everett Edson of Gardner street, East Boston, were fined $5 each for failure to sound their automobile horns at street intersections.

Anthony Del Portal, a sweet spree, who conducts a pool room on Meridian street, and Anthony V. Bilotti, caterer, of Liverpool street, East Boston, were arraigned on the charge of illegal sale of liquor. Hearing was set for Tuesday next and each was released on $500 bonds.

$2,000,000 SITE FOR THE FIRST NATIONAL

One of the biggest real estate deals in Boston in years was effected today, when the First National Bank of Boston acquired the Equitable Building and the Master Builders' Association Building on Milk, Federal and Devonshire streets. The properties are assessed for $1,951,300.

The bank experts to prepare plans and undertake at once the construction of a new building on its property.

The total area in the three parcels is 20,891 square feet. The buildings are assessed for $577,000. The properties are known as Nos. 42-48 Milk street, Nos. 146-148 Devonshire street and No. 122 Federal street. They have a total frontage of 279 feet on the three thoroughfares.

The bank was represented by Herbert F. Winslow in the filing of the papers in Suffolk Registry of Deeds. The former owners, Loren D. Towle, was represented by T. Deane Boardman, Reginald Boardman and Richard Dell. Boardman.

Officials of the First National say the growth of their business necessitated the erection of a new building.

ROHLFE MAKES NEW ALTITUDE RECORD

Mineola, N. Y., July 31.—Roland Rohlfe established a new official altitude record at Roosevelt Field by ascending to a height of 30,700 feet in a 400 horsepower Curtiss triplane.

Miss Nettie Holder of Cambridge, Whose Wedding Will Take Place at Watertown Arsenal on August 6.

Boston and Cambridge society circles are much interested in the mid-Summer wedding of Miss Nettie Holder, the daughter of Frederic R. Holder of Brattle street, Cambridge, whose marriage to Charles Edmund Black will take place on next Tuesday, August 6, at noon, at the residence of Colonel Wall, at the Watertown Arsenal. Miss Holder has been one of the most popular girls of her set and has taken much part in social activities during the past few seasons. Mr. Black is the son of Charles Hamlen Black of New Orleans.

Bridge tea and a cake sale attracted society from far and wide today at Mrs. Sydney Bolles Harkinson's estate, West Manor, Beverly Farms. Tables and candy for the bridge, but one of the most important features of the afternoon was the Mah Jongg contest this week did not come to a bridge. Mrs. Harkinson's house is ideally located on the beach with large terraces and piazzas fronting the water. These were spread with tea tables. The affair was held in raising money for the fund for the Memorial Hospital at Rheims, France. A cake table was one of the attractions, delicious home-made cakes being sold by Mrs. Theodore Adamowski and Mrs. Henry S. Grew. Bridge accessories were also on sale.

The committee in charge of the benefit included some of the most prominent North Shore society residents—Mrs. George H. Lyman, Mrs. M. G. Haughton, Mrs. Theodore Adamowski, Mrs. William W. Caswell, Miss Elaine Bonarge, Miss Harriet Hanford, Mrs. H. S. Grew, 2d, Mrs. Lester Leland, Mrs. William H. Moore, Mrs. Rodney Snelling, Miss Alice Hopkinson and Mrs. Boylston A. Beal.

North Shore children will give a pleasing entertainment Friday and Saturday afternoons in Horticultural Hall, Marblehead-on-the-Sea, which will be filled with an enthusiastic crowd of North Shore society folk. The "Belle de France," with scenes from the illustrations of Boutet de Monvel, will be given. Each of the 24 society children being the actors and actresses. The play was written and arranged by Miss Ida King and Miss Coit, the two who arranged the Pierrot play which was given so successfully last season at the Belmont estate in West Manchester.

The performances are given to benefit the memorial hospital at Rheims, France. Those who are actively interested in making the affair successful include Mrs. Katherine P. Loring, Prides Crossing; Mrs. George H. Lyman, Beverly Farms; Mrs. Langdon Warner, Ipswich; Mrs. Charles Hopkinson, Marblehead; Mrs. L. Davidson, Beverly Farms; Mrs. Gloucester, and Mrs. Hugo French, Annisquam.

Children from these and other prominent families are expected to do justice to their teachers, tutors and governesses in their French pronunciation, the play being all in French.

City Hospitals May Feel Effects of Strike

Boston City Hospital and the Haymarket Square Relief Hospital may be affected by the threatened strike of engineers and firemen in the opinion of Acting Mayor Francis J. W. Ford. He also fears that the City Point sanatorium and elephant houses at Franklin Park will also be affected.

The men who threaten strike, fewer than 100 in number, demand an increase of $2 a week, the union scale. They now get $27 and $35 per week. They belong to the Hub Marine Engineers' Association, which is not affiliated with the A. F. of L.

Public Works Commissioner Thomas P. Sullivan said that the service will not be tied up. He says that if the men strike they will be stopped after three days under the civil service rules, and new men will be employed to take their places.

TRUSTEE AGENT TESTIFIES FOR DIRECTORS

Luther P. Cudworth, purchasing agent for the trustees of the Christian Science Publishing Society, took the stand in the Christian Science hearing today to testify against his superiors and in favor of the directors of the church.

Mr. Cudworth was put on the stand to combat evidence that Lamont Rowlands, one of the trustees who in under fire, had saved the society $41,000 in 1917. The purchasing agent said that he himself had saved the society money, but some of this saving had disappeared because of trouble with the manufacturers of newsprint paper.

Mr. Cudworth was cross-examined at length by Attorney Sherman L. Whipple. In the course of this cross-examination sitting between Mr. Whipple and John L. Bates was frequent and spirited.

"You are making Mr. Bates," said Mr. Whipple heatedly, angered at one interruption. "You are away behind the times. You don't know what you are talking about. You ought to support your inference with sworn testimony."

At the opening of the hearing today, Attorney E. A. Krauthoff for the directors, succeeded in having corrected certain testimony read into the records yesterday. This testimony concerned the orthodoxy required in one elected as trustee or to any other high position.

Mr. Krauthoff read from tracts to women was present.

show that Mrs. Eddy, founder of the church, did not require her followers to be as near perfection in the tenets and practices of the church as herself. He said she considered a church member who followed in her footsteps according to his understanding was a loyal and faithful Christian Scientist.

Girls! Have the Long Beautiful Hair that is Rightfully Yours

Short, scraggly, unsightly hair is more of a habit than anything else.

Hair must have intelligent care. Merely combing and washing will not keep it in a healthy condition, and give you the abundance of hair nature intended you should have.

should be used at frequent intervals, because it keeps the scalp free from dandruff and harmful matter due to perspiration. Herpicide keeps the scalp in a healthy condition permitting the hair to have its normal growth and sheen.

It is astounding how many men and women will go through life with little or no hair and with what they have in a very unhealthy condition, when at a very small cost, they could get Newbro's Herpicide and save and beautify their hair.

Herpicide is sold and guaranteed at drug and department stores everywhere. Applications at barber shops.

Send 10 cents in stamps or coin today for sample and booklet on the care of the hair. Address: The Herpicide Co., Dept. 180-B, Detroit, U. S. A.

NEW DEMANDS OF FISHERMEN REJECTED

Gloucester Vessel Owners Declare to Accept Them Would Destroy Business

Gloucester, July 31.—The latest demands of the fishermen's union have been rejected by the Vessel Owners' Association, and the strike along the Atlantic coast is as far from settlement ever.

In a statement signed by Fred L. Davis, president, the vessel owners declare that to grant the union demands would mean the killing of the fishing industry in Gloucester. The statement, in part, says:

IMPOSSIBLE PRICES URGED.

"In your resolutions, adopted on July 22, you demand that settlement with the fishermen at the completion of each trip be made in accordance with a scale of values which are much higher than the prices for which fish can be sold in any market in New England; in fact, these assumed values are on the average almost double the average at which fish has been sold from the vessels at any time during the war.

"There is no opportunity for the vessel owners to secure a price for the fish as high as the figures contained in your circular. Any attempt on their part to raise the selling prices up to these figures would put them in danger of prosecution, under the laws of the United States, and of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts; therefore the vessel owners of Gloucester find it necessary to reject your demands for settlement with the fishermen with accordance with the schedule of values contained in your resolutions.

WOULD KILL BUSINESS.

"The second group of demands made by you contained in your resolutions adopted on June 11 relate to the method of the operation of the fishing vessels. If these demands were granted by the vessel owners the result would be a material increase in the cost of operation of fishing vessels.

"The vessel owners find it necessary to reject these demands made by the Fishermen's Union of the Atlantic for reasons set forth above and because no one in the city of Gloucester could operate a fishing boat or a fishing fleet in accordance with your demands. To accept these demands would bring ruin and the result that every person and corporation in Gloucester owning a fishing boat would go out of business and no fish would be produced by Gloucester vessels for the public use."

Aubrey Hawes, master of the fishing vessel Sybil, has filed in the Superior Court a bill in equity against officers and members of the fishermen's union asking for an injunction against interfering with his business by picketing his wharf or arousing men who have remained in his employ.

COMPROMISE IN BIG WORCESTER STRIKE

Worcester, July 31.—The strike of 5,000 leather workers employed by the Graton & Knight Manufacturing Company was ended today when concessions by the company. The men return to work tomorrow.

The plant, the biggest leather belting concern in the world, has been practically shut down for three weeks as the strike, and considerable disorder has accompanied picketing. The men asked for a fifty-hour week, wage increases ranging from 10 to 25 per cent, and an agreement that in future the company officials will consider instituting the forty-eight hour week if the operatives still desire it.

BLEND OLD WITH NEW IN STYLE AT THE PIER

The old style and the new blend in the smartest toilettes seen in the fashion display at the height of Narragansett Pier season. The big beaded bag, revived from the days of our great-grandmothers—and the new belted jacket are favored by Mrs. Charles W. Higgins of Providence. The larger the bag the smarter the effect. The dark of the jacket contrasts smartly with the white silk piping, while the broad belt gives just the touch.

AUTOISTS SUE VERMONT TOWN FOR $44,000

Worcester Man Killed, Two Hurt, When Car Went Into River

Bellows Falls, Vt., July 31.—Four damage suits aggregating $44,000 have been filed against the town of Clarendon in Worcester, Mass., residents as the result of a fatal motor accident, when a car plunged through a covered bridge near North Clarendon and over an embankment into Cold river.

Leonard D. Lebeouf, who owned and was driving the car, was instantly killed. His cousin Carleton Lebeouf, and his brother Charles I. Lebeouf were severely injured.

The first suit is for $25,000 damages and is brought by Florence L. Lebeouf for the death of her husband. A second suit is for $10,000 damages brought by Charles I. Lebeouf for injuries consisting of a broken left arm, dislocated bones in the back, severing of tendons in his arms and other injuries.

A third suit is for $5,000 damages brought by Carleton Lebeouf for injuries consisting of a broken jaw, broken arm and nervous shock.

The fourth suit is for $4,000 for the complete loss of the touring car.

U. S. TROOPS TO LEAVE NORTH RUSSIA SOON

Washington, July 31.—The early evacuation of the entire American force of troops in Northern Russia, less a small detachment for transfer of property and the disposition of the American dead, is reported by Brigadier General Richardson, commanding, in communications received from General Pershing this morning by the War Department. General Pershing has ordered General Richardson to withdraw his headquarters and return as soon as practicable.

CONCORD ROAD WANTS TO TRY ZONE SYSTEM

A revised tariff has been filed by the Concord, Maynard & Hudson Street Railway with the Public Service Commission seeking to place in operation, beginning Friday, August 15, a five-cent zone system. This will mean a passenger may travel from one zone to another for a nickel fare.

This would appear a reduction over the present high fare, but it is not, as the zones are fairly extended. By the new rate it would cost thirty cents from Concord to Maynard and fifty cents from Concord to Hudson.

FIRE STARTING IN HAY DESTROYS $5,000 BARN

Sterling, July 31.—A fire said to have started from spontaneous combustion in the hayloft of Joseph Sherwin's barn at Fitch's corner, today destroyed that structure with its contents valued at $5,000. Aid was was called from Leominster and the flames were prevented from spreading to the house. Besides a large amount of hay, the barn contained a quantity of farming implements.

REPRESENTATIVE COWIN SURPRISED BY FRIENDS

COUNCIL FLAYED FOR IGNORING PROTEST

Vigilance Committee Condemns Refusal for Hearing on Trolley Board Appointments

Editor Boston American:

At a special meeting of the executive committee of the Citizens' Vigilance Committee it was voted to request the press to publish the following communication which is self-explanatory.

Although the Citizens' Vigilance Committee of Boston, representing twenty-six organizations in finance, formally protested in the session against the confirmation by the Executive Council of Messrs. Robert F. Herrick, Oliver Prescott, Charles S. Washburn and James L. Doherty as members of a commission to investigate the street railway situation in this state and although we respectfully expressed a hearing upon that question the Executive Council ignoring the right which we enjoy to be heard hastily and most unwisely confirmed those appointees. We order why such hasty was necessary.

Is it possible that certain financial interests were fearful that a hearing might reveal the facts and data involving the public that with such a commission, justice will never be obtained?

As members of that commission represent banking interests unchecked with the same financial interests which wrecked our street railways companies, as officers or members as leaders of the New Haven steam in the Boston & Maine, have granted financial transactions, as not one of that commission is a street railway expert—and as we believe that our evidence justifies the rejection of three of that commission, we denounce the failure to afford us a hearing.

We believe that this commission will "manoeuvre" the street railway situation and will endeavor to conceal letters and corruption, acts which, if committed by a humble citizen, would mean a jail sentence. But though the Executive Council insults and ignores citizens, we do not hesitate to lock horns with them and insidious influences. We will use the initiative and referendum, and test the constitutionality of Chapter 159 of the Special Acts of 1918, in all its phases, before the court of last resort.

We shall, publicly and privately, denounce these tactics, and urge the elimination from public life of cat's paws of such interests.

Respectfully yours,

FRANCIS J. HORGAN

Chairman

FRANK SEIBERLICH,

Secretary, 31 Roanoke avenue, Jamaica Plain, Boston, July 31

'Silent Improvements' to Hide Stocks of Wines in Homes

Have you a little vault in your home?

If not, how are you going to keep your private stock of liquor safe?

Answers to these questions are being constructed now in many homes of malefactors of great wealth in Boston and suburbs. It applies particularly to big country estates, as in Milton, Weston, the Newtons, and so on.

In previous years the owners of these demesnes have improved their places with Italian gardens. The switch has been thrown now toward French wine cellars.

These are "silent improvements," so to speak, because the proprietors say little about them, except to their close friends.

The vaults are efficient affairs, constructed of steel, one agent for a light structural steel concern is booking orders rapidly hereabouts. Some of the orders are quite large, calling for vaults of goodly size. The buyers have large stocks to be stowed away. They are taking no chances of prohibition being rescinded.

If you see loads of stone and cement (for foundation work) and of fancy sheet steel being unloaded at any gentleman's country place about now—well, you know.

RECEIVES REPLICA OF SON'S WAR CROSS

Concord, July 31.—Mrs. James Coulter of summer street, Maynard, has received a small reproduction of the Cross de Guerre received by her son, Major Sidney Coulter, now in France with the first division. Major Coulter was awarded by the French government for gallantry and heroism in action.

ENFORCED TEMPERANCE MADE GERMANY SANER

Copenhagen, July 31.—Lack of alcohol in Germany during the war has led to a tremendous reduction of insanity, according to Dr. Rosenfeld, a famous alienist. In Breslau alone, he says, the reduction since the outbreak of the war is 73 per cent with men and 65 per cent with women.

One-Armed Lunch" Places to Split Pies 7 Ways

Patrons of one of the one-armed lunch systems in Boston are disagreeably surprised today by a demonstration of the possibility of further paring an undoubtedly minimum. Pies, which were one day served in quarter cuts, and until today a six pieces, are to be split as was henceforward, it was announced. Various alleged ills with which the counters of such places are always littered are boosted in price from a nickel to a dime. Blackberry pie 15 cents a portion.

The manager of one of the eateries, and more than one miles from the American of-ice on Summer street, who is said for his services on a per-ntage basis, said that a general crease in the prices of all dishes tas forthcoming. It is declared hat these increases are absolutely necessary if the corporation owning the system is to split a 1918 as robust a set of dividends as accrued to it last year.

EXBURY FIRM GIVES EMPLOYES $100 EACH

Chinese Picnic at Pine Island on Monday

The annual picnic of Chinese business men is to be held on Monday at Pine Island Park, Manchester, N. H. About 250 Chinese, many with white women as wives, and their children will board a special train from North Station or a closed car in the morning. Upon arrival in Manchester they will parade to the grove.

A Chinese band, under the leadership of Ko Lee Poh Lee, will furnish the weird oriental music. There will also be an American band for dancing. In the evening Manchester will witness a display of fireworks said to beat.

The committee in charge of the affair is made up of Yee Wah, Mayor of Chinatown, chairman; Moy Lowe of the Hanover Association, is secretary. Others are: William J. Lyons, Thomas Harry, Thomas Washburn and W. Howard McShane of Buttonwood Chambers.

Wakefield School Row Comes to a Head

An attempt on the part of Italian-born residents of Wakefield to hold up the construction of the new primary school in the Woodville district will be made tonight.

At that time a petition will be presented to the Board of Selectmen asking them to call a special meeting for the purpose of bringing about a suspension of the work on the new school.

The petitioners' protest is based on the fact that the school is being built on the site of the old school, which is from half a mile to one mile from Water street, in which the majority of the petitioners live.

The school house controversy, which raged for some months, was thought to have been definitely settled when the selectmen appropriated $67,000 six weeks ago for the erection of the school. The contract was awarded to Boston firm who started construction.

To Hear Husband's Plea for Rings of Marriage

Judge Watt in the equity motion session of the Superior Court has ordered pleadings completed on or before August 5, in the suits of Louis Bernstein against his wife, Harriet Bernstein, and her mother, Rebecca Israelson, and against the city of Boston.

In the first action Bernstein seeks to recover a diamond ring given respectively to his wife on their engagement and subsequent marriage. These rings, Bernstein believes are now in possession of Mrs. Israelson, and pending the litigation it was stipulated by the two that these should be no change in the situation.

The second suit of Bernstein asks that City Registrar Edward W. Mellen be enjoined from recording the birth of a child under the name of Bernstein, as the latter says he is not the father of the boy.

BUY DIAMONDS DIRECT

From Jason Weiler & Sons, America's Leading Importers

and save 20 to 40% on usual retail prices

DIAMONDS are continually advancing in price, and, in the opinion of many experts, the time is today offer the best opportunities for investment. Diamonds bought from Jason Weiler & Sons three years ago have practically doubled their value—and we confidently predict that a similar or even greater advance will occur within the next three years.

Our foreign agents made large contracts prior to the recent price advances, and have just sent us many exceptionally fine stones at very special prices. We believe very few, if any other, importers in America, can match our ability to undersell. If you have been contemplating the purchase of a diamond, come to our salesrooms now and at least make comparisons.

SEEKS TO CREATE AN AERONAUTICS DEPARTMENT

Senator New's Bill Would Join All Air Activities Under One Head

By International News Service.

Washington, July 31.—A Congressional drive for wider development of aeronautics in the United States opened today when Senator New of Indiana introduced a bill to create at the earliest possible moment a department of aeronautics. Under the provisions of the bill this department would have charge of all government aeronautics in connection with the post-office department, naval affairs and other government branches. A director would be appointed by the President, at a salary of $12,000, with an assistant at $6000 a year.

The scope of the bill has been greatly increased over that introduced by Senator New at the last session of congress, and aims to use proposed department as wide lances in matters of aviation as the War Department has in matters concerning the army. It would make the department of aeronautics control the air service in times of peace but also in times of war.

Plans for providing commissioned and enlisted men are included in the bill.

The highest rank permitted is that of major general and none but flying officers would be permitted to be placed in command of aeronautic squadrons. Transfers of officers and men from the army and navy to the department of aeronautics are provided for. All officers and men afforded to men of the military and naval services would be accorded men of the proposed service.

"America must go ahead aeronautics," Senator New said today, "and I believe the most effective way is to consolidate and concentrate our efforts in one department."

Baker Denies Waste of $640,000,000 that Air Service Paid Out

Washington, July 31.—Time consumed in perfecting the Liberty motor for use in American airplanes was justified and denial of waste of appropriations for aircraft was made by Secretary Baker before the aviation subcommittee of the House committee investigating expenditures in the War Department.

"Every dollar spent for aviation was stinted," the secretary said. "We were manufacturing Liberty motors in such numbers that England, France and Italy were looking to us to supply them. We sent 1000 motors from each of these nations to Europe. I do not know whether they had used any of them.

"It is erroneous, in my judgment," the secretary added, "to say that $640,000,000 originally appropriated for aircraft was wasted. Some machines and motors proved valueless. Their perfection, instead of chances in wartime methods. That was not waste."

Billy Sunday Coming to Boston in October

Baltimore, July 31.—Billy Sunday will be the special guest of Billy Sunday Week in Baltimore in October. The baseball evangelist is to conduct a series of meetings in Monument building. Preliminary meetings will be held in Tremont temple and Park street church, Boston, and those who have not as yet made reservations for the Baltimore meetings are urged to do so at once, as the accommodations will be limited.

Mrs. Sunday is to have a heart-to-heart talk with Baltimore's fashionable women, and a number of meetings exclusively for men and women will be held.

WIND VEERS AND TEMPERATURE GOES DOWN

Mercury Drops Three Degrees in Fifteen Minutes—Showers Due Tonight

Sudden shifting of the winds caused a drop of three degrees in the temperature within fifteen minutes at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. The mercury stood at 75 degrees, combined with a humidity of 60 per cent. This was causing Bostonians considerable discomfort. Then the wind veered suddenly to the northeast and at 4:45 o'clock a fresh breeze from Connecticut, p. m. the official temperature reading at the Weather Bureau was 72.

Concord, N. H., was the coolest place in the country today. At the standard hour for observing temperatures it was 70 degrees there.

SHOWERS DUE TONIGHT.

The hottest points in the country were at Brownsville, Tex., Key West, Fla., and Boston, Tex., all of which reported 92 degrees. The highest in New England was 94, at Worcester, which was also the hottest spot in the United States yesterday.

Showers tonight and Friday are predicted by W. J. Hartnett, official weather prophet, in charge of the Boston office. The change in temperature and moderate variable winds are forecast.

Claims will be unofficial to agriculture in drought sections where there is no rain, according to Hartnett. The approaching showers will be the result of a cold wave formed by farmers, declared Mr. Smith.

Showers in Boston today produced steady downpours over the Ohio Valley and showers in the upper Mississippi and Missouri valleys. Rain is what the crops are badly needed for in these districts.

COOL ALONG BORDER.

Temperatures along the Canadian border today were slightly below normal. Average conditions were recorded from other points in the country. Readings in principal cities at 8 p. m. were:

New York City	78
Albany	76
Pittsburgh	76
Chicago	76
Salt Lake City	90
Denver	86

DRIVE IN STATE FOR RECRUITS AT FORTS

Ruckman Starts Campaign for Men to Join Coast Defence Service

The drive for recruits for the coast defences of Boston which started some time ago under the charge of Major Walter C. Ellis, Captain Charles J. Watson and Second Lieutenant W. V. Vaughn, is being augmented by an additional force of five recruiting teams, with one officer and six men, who will cover northern Connecticut, part of Vermont and Western Massachusetts.

Brigadier-general John W. Ruckman, commanding the North Atlantic coast artillery district, announced today that this is an effort to get the coast defenses up to peace strength.

Men who have served honorably and were discharged after January 1, 1919, are being accepted for the coast defences, and those who have served with the colors

Antiquity of the Emerald

THE emerald has been known since early times, both in Europe and in certain parts of the Orient, where its attractive color and rarity have endowed it with the highest rank. Its name may be traced back to an old word which appeared in Greek as smaragdos, mentioned in Greek by Theophrastus 300 B. C.

Stocks Weak in Both Markets---Prices Break in New York Near the Close

STEEL COMMON LEADS LATE DECLINE

Selling Pressure Increases in the Afternoon and Prices Tumble

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

Stocks were weak in both markets at the close, selling pressure increasing in the last hour and prices tumbling under best quotations. This closing weakness was the result of several days of reaction as the market has apparently needed for weeks a bear element to lead in the long session. Liquidation was on a large scale and prices suffered severely in consequence.

Among issues the prices of greatest recessions were Car and Foundry, Baldwin Locomotive, Central Leather, Studebaker, Crucible Steel, Kayser, Cuban Cane Sugar Preferred, Utah Copper. They sold generally from two to six points.

U. S. Steel common was the leader in the long session, touching 101¾, a net loss of 1¾ points, but suffered severely in the late dealings, selling as low as 101⅛.

Call money advanced to 6 per cent.

ENDICOTT JOHNSON STRONG.

Endicott Johnson common retained a high record price at midday selling at 121½, almost four points advance. It sold at 85 a few weeks ago when trading in its shares began on the New York Stock Exchange. It is said that present earnings on the common issues are at the rate of $20 a share.

Oils developed irregularity, but the morning hill were bidders at noon time. Then the market was in the best for the day. On afternoon a recessional was under way. Trading was of less than usual volume during the morning, but was active in the last hour. Oil company opened at 6 per cent, and was quoted at 8 in the last hour. In the foreign exchange market sterling rates grew firmer before the close.

IRREGULAR AT OPENING.

Irregular at the opening, the market failed to develop a positive trend during the first hour, but was going on the whole in the direction of stronger, showing gains. Wheels stocks advanced the most at the opening. The Coast Wheels issues were in demand, with 4% advance while Retail Stores was up 3½. Other strong issues at the opening were Studebaker and Gaston common. The American Woolen Preferred, Pittsburgh Coal, Industrial Products, Baldwin Locomotive and Central Leather.

Weakness set in at the start in cinder, Texas Oil, Marine common, American International and American Beet Sugar, losing a point or more. Early trading was moderate, values for Consolidated Stores and Hide & Leather common established record higher prices on the first sales. The market took a rather narrow activity was confined to a comparatively few issues, with Germans and Coppers the favorite traders. Public interest in the market appears to be subsiding.

TRADERS MORE BEARISH.

Sentiment in the money trade and file is concerned, seemed to be more bearish than ever, and that of late has long been growing a radical reaction. The first real stop came in the season in saying the top was probably. The drop in cotton prices is attributed partly to the decline in exchange rates, but is due chiefly, although bank deposits are large, to demand for funds for crop uses, possibly tax requirements as never before. It is believed that important developments regarding foreign credits are pending. One prominent banker says that no more money from New York is expected and in regard to establishing a substantial British credit Germany says that a $1,000,000,000 credit for $100,000,000 and immediate needs of about $500,000,000 have been provided for within a few days. Bankers are holding meetings with this aim in view, and there is almost concensus that will be done shortly, although the details are lacking to enable this country to make definite offers with what the country has to sell, foodstuffs and raw materials.

Bank Has New President

President Frederick H. Brownell of the Webster and Atlas National Bank has been elected president of the Franklin Savings Bank to succeed Fill the vacancy caused by the death of President Hill of the Webster and Atlas National Bank. Mr. Brownell will continue as president of the Franklin Savings Bank. The capital stock of the Franklin Savings Bank will be increased from $100,000 to $200,000 at the rate of $100 per share. The stock will be offered at par to the stockholders of record August 1, 1919, and the new stock will be issued August 15, 1919.

Foreign Exchange

New York, July 31.—Increasing of the London rate against sterling was the feature of foreign exchange this morning. Demand sterling was quoted at $4.03 and cables at $4.03½. Francs were 7.26 and 7.22. Lire 7.22 and 7.20. Marks were 1.20 and 1.19.

London Market

London, July 31. The stock market was unsettled today. Canada 91½, yesterday was 91½; Grand Trunk 4s, 57½, yesterday was 57½; Grand Trunk 4s, 57½, yesterday was 57½; Grand Trunk 4s, 57½, yesterday was 57

EDITORIAL PAGE OF THE BOSTON AMERICAN JULY 31, 1919. BOSTON.

Present System of High Flat Fares Is Unfair to Public

A correspondent makes two complaints against the policy of the American concerning our street railway problem.

First, That the American conceded, without investigation, the justice of the employes' demand for an increase of pay and better hours of labor.

Second, That it proposes a return to the 5-cent fare without regard to the fact that a 5-cent fare will not today pay the operating expenses of the Boston Elevated Street Railway.

It is true that the American said, without special investigation, that in all probability the demand of the men for an increase in wages to correspond with the increase of living was justified. But it does not follow from the fact that the American made no special investigation of the case that it was not in touch with the general situation, of which the case of the Elevated employes was not an exceptional part. The cost of living has continued to increase since the granting of the last increase of wages and, moreover, the men started under the old private management at a ridiculously low wage level. The public has been and always ought to be the model employer. Conditions in the public employment ought to be better than conditions under any private employer, for the public ought to set an example. The public is operating the Boston Elevated Railway.

With respect to the employes, our correspondent also complains that the American condoned the failure of the trustees to make an example of the men in their unjust strike. If the public had made an example of private managers every time they did an act of injustice to the public, the charters of these corporations would have been forfeited a hundred times in the last twenty-five years. We suspect, however, that our correspondent would consider that kind of an injustice a horse of another color.

With respect to the 5-cent fare, and the inability of the street railways to pay their expenses upon a 5-cent fare, it is sufficient to ask our correspondent whether our public streets pay their way, or the lighting of them, or our bridges, or our schools, or our sewer system, or our fire department, or our police department, or our park department. We would like to ask the gentleman if he would go back to the old days when there was a toll gate every few hundred yards across our highways and at both ends of every bridge, and when our children had to pay for going to school and pay for their school books, and when you had to have private watchmen when you wanted protection, and when we had to go about the dark streets with a lantern when we wanted light?

We should like to ask our correspondent if he ever goes into a tall office building and there takes an elevator? If he does, we should like to ask him if he pays for the use of the elevator every time he steps into it?

Would our correspondent and those who agree with him want the people of Charlestown, East Boston, South Boston and the nearer sections of Dorchester and Roxbury pay more than it costs to transport them to their destination? That is what it means to continue the present system of high, flat fares. It is a much more flagrant violation of principle to charge one class of citizens more than it costs in order to charge another class of citizens less than it costs to render them service. Even on a 5-cent rate the short distance rider will pay more than he ought to pay, because he will be paying practically all the cost of his service and making up part of the loss occasioned by hauling the long distance rider out of taxation. Of course, this will not be so great an injustice as the present system, because the whole community will have to share the burden, while now Charlestown, South Boston and East Boston have to bear it all.

But if for some strange reason the people of the State should decide that they preferred to continue the method of making the car rider pay the whole cost of the service to him, then we must have the zone system, and make everybody pay the cost, and not make somebody pay more than the cost in order that somebody else may pay less. Moreover, the car rider, both long distance and short distance, should not be called upon to pay for the subways, which relieve the public streets of congestion and convenience the automobilist and the pedestrian, and the business man who operates his trucks and teams upon public streets.

If it is thought wiser to have a 15-cent fare—and that is what it is probably coming to—in the farther reaches of the districts served by the Boston Elevated and Bay State Street Railways, the American would submit cheerfully to the judgment of the public, but business men in Boston ought to understand its significance.

Of course, what we say about the restoration of 5-cent fares applies only on roads operated by the government. We did not abolish tolls on our roads and bridges until we owned and operated them ourselves.

The Pacific Coast Wants a Naval Academy, and It Should Get It

Copyright, 1919, by Star Company

In a few days Secretary Daniels will start for the Pacific Coast to meet and review the fleet which is now on its way through the Panama Canal and headed for its station on our western boundary.

When the Secretary gets to California he will be met by a great number of very enterprising and politely insistent gentlemen who will present to him arguments why the government should establish another naval academy and locate it on the great bay of San Francisco.

They will not find Mr. Daniels unacquainted with their plans nor deaf to their arguments.

The Navy Department has recognized that with a larger navy and a greater demand for trained men it would be necessary sooner or later to expand the facilities for education, and one of the ways under consideration was the supplementing of the Annapolis institution by another training school.

It is certain, too, that San Francisco and its wonderful bay have been carefully considered as a location.

With the establishment of a Pacific Coast fleet the location of "another Annapolis" in California has become almost as necessary as it is desirable.

The Annapolis of the East has reached its limit in the number of trained officers it can develop.

To enlarge its capacity and sufficiently increase its output would be as expensive and perhaps more costly than to build another and a new institution.

The training schools for both branches of the service are on the Eastern coast.

The Western boy aspiring to a military life has to come clear across the continent for his training. The would-be admiral has to make an equally long journey and be equally far from home.

The establishment of the Pacific fleet will enormously increase the interest of Western boys in naval life.

They will see the great ships, and they will be inspired with a desire for a naval career.

The country, with a bigger navy, will need them, and it should be made geographically easy to take advantage of the enthusiasm of the Western boys.

San Francisco offers everything in location and climate that is required for such an institution as the government would plan to build and develop.

We are certain that the committees and the civic organizations of California which have the project in hand will find the head of the navy a willing and sympathetic listener to their arguments.

A Fly in the Butter

Uncle Sam Asks Public to Spare Snakes

Reasons for Appeal Explained in Next Sunday's Boston Advertiser.

Do you squirm with disgust whenever you see a snake?

Most of us do, and the natural impulse is to seize a stone or club and give battle. It is that impulse, with its consequent fatalities among the reptile tribe, which costs the United States many millions of dollars annually.

For snakes have a distinct commercial value nowadays, not only for their hides, which make some of the finest leather which we have, but because of their activities in destroying mice and other small animals which commit expensive depredations in our wheat and corn fields if allowed to run unchecked.

This is why the United States Department of Agriculture experts have appealed to the American public to cease the slaughter of harmless reptiles. In this appeal the department realizes that it is going directly against one of the basic human instincts which is a relic of the times when ancestors fled chattering in terror to the tree tops from their snaky enemies.

One of the most interesting articles in next week's magazine section of the Sunday Advertiser will be that dealing with snakes, poisonous and non-poisonous. And you will be interested to know that there are only seventeen species of the dangerous variety in this country.

Giant dirigibles, equipped with every comfort of a sanitarium, may soon become the most modern means of dealing with the White Plague.

For many years medical authorities have recognized that the pure air of high elevations, together with the stimulated heart action arising from the lowering of atmospheric pressure, have been beneficial in cases of pulmonary tuberculosis. But in the past only the wealthy have been able to afford a course of treatment in the mountain resorts where these conditions are attainable.

Now comes a scientist with a plan, inspired by the recent successful trip of the R 34, to use the dirigible as a great floating hospital of the air. Huge aircraft, safely anchored to the earth by cables, would rise high into the pure, healthful air of the upper regions, and patients, comfortably stretched out on the sun deck atop the bag, would thereby find health and strength.

The Billie Carleton mystery case has been cleared up. This week we have the concluding instalment of the sensational hearings conducted in London following the puzzling death of the pretty little actress. The court's disposition of the case is as interesting as the testimony has been all along.

Nurses' Aides Go Into Poland

Twenty women of Polish birth or descent, who have been trained in this country as social and nurses' aides, are to be sent by the Y. W. C. A. to Poland within a few weeks as a result of a request from Mme. Paderewski, wife of the Polish president.

The women were trained by the Y. W. C. A. in various parts of the United States and have been given a systematic course with a certificate for satisfactory work. They are known as the Polish Grey Samaritans and wear a picturesque uniform consisting of a gray cape and Polish cap.

Judicious Selection

So, still another organization has made James H. Vahey its counsel.

The selection of Mr. Vahey is a judicious selection. He is a man of experience in law, public affairs and of moderate counsel.

If those who employ him would pay a little more heed to his advice they would get more of their money's worth from his employment.

Inklings and Thinklings

Some sporting editor should hire St. Swithin as racing tipster.

Despite all the worrying about decadence the iron is still strong in the good old Yankee blood. Just read this one headline: "Regulars at Narragansett Pier Battle Despite Rain." Can't beat tough birds like that.

Some nations are talking about a Minor League.

Oculists say the heavy rimmed horn glasses are bad for the eyes. Must be. They shut out all the light.

Letters to the Editor

Price of Milk

Editor Boston American:

I am sending you the following letter of protest against the intended rise in the price of milk with the hope that you will give it the space and publication which, in your opinion, it deserves.

For the past two months, signs and posters have been displayed in all prominent places in Greater Boston and advertisements have appeared in newspapers urging the public to use more milk. This continuous advertising was part of a propaganda fostered and paid for by the milk producers and distributors by which they might cause the general public to use more of the surplus supply of milk during the Summer months which is usually wasted or used for the making of butter and cheese.

It is well known that the supply of milk during the Summer period is far greater than the demand and that therefore if the law of supply and demand were permitted to take its proper course the price of milk to the consumer would naturally be reduced. This, however, has not been the experience of the consumer. Instead of a reduction in the price of milk to which the public is entitled during the Summer the people have been fed with this propaganda in order that the unjustifiable high price of milk might prevail. Instead of distributing this great surplus of milk to the poor and needy or selling it to them at lower prices, it has been permitted to sour and waste and yet, in spite of these conditions, the distributors and producers have the courage to announce in the newspapers that there will be a rise in the price of milk tomorrow. Courage in my mind is a very mild term. Brazen and unjustifiable profiteering would better describe their action.

The statistics tabulated by the Bureau of Markets of the Agricultural Department of the United States government, by the Chamber of Commerce and by the food interests show, without any question, that during the Summer months there is such a surplus in the supply of milk that a great proportion of the milk is wasted and the remainder of the surplus is used for the manufacture of butter and cheese. It would seem, therefore, that the price of butter and cheese as well as of milk should go down instead of up during the months of June, July and August. Nevertheless the public is forced to swell the coffers of these profiteers by paying such unreasonable prices for these necessities of life.

I believe that it is better to voice a protest before the intended rise in price goes into effect and perhaps such rise can be prevented by a general public protest. It is my sincere belief that this rise can be prevented just as well as the rise in the fares of the Boston Elevated could have been prevented if the public had protested against it before the 10-cent fare came into effect.

Nobody will question that I voice the sentiment of the public, and I trust and hope that other red-blooded Americans will join me in this protest.

BARNARD MORRISON.

THINKING ISN'T ALL SPEED

Don't be discouraged with yourself because you are a slow thinker.

The quick thinker is often a surface thinker.

If he were to go up against you in solving deep questions you might be his superior.

You envy some men their gift at repartee, and think them extremely bright.

It may be merely quick wits, usually nothing profound.

Where there is foam there is a lot of air—and with many individuals it is hot air.

You must go deeper to get at the something worth while.

In your younger days you envied certain young chaps who were favorites with the girls because their conversation was so entertaining; and you remember certain other fellows who seemed dull, and were listeners.

What is the relative position of those two classes today?

Isn't it the quiet, slow-thinking man who has made the greater success?

Haven't you done better than the glib, smooth-tongued companions of your boyhood days?
